- f. recommendation - Town Administrator and Department of Public Works
- g. recommendation - Town Administrator and Tax Assessor

Sweeney/Teixeira - Voted unanimously to refer to the town solicitor and Town Administrator for collaboration with the petitioner in drafting a right-of-way agreement between the town and the petitioners. The petitioners are required to secure legal descriptions and a professional survey.

Prior to the vote being taken, petitioner Judy Jorge addressed the council. She mentioned that her husband couldn't attend due to a recent injury. Mrs. Jorge explained that they currently hold a license to maintain the section of land owned by the town, which she is requesting to be abandoned and deeded to them. She clarified that the adjacent property was presently on the market, and they were taking proactive steps to secure access through that part of the land to their property.

The council conveyed apprehension about abandoning the land and inquired why the existing license to maintain would not be satisfactory. The petitioner sought a more permanent solution, noting that the license to maintain is only valid with the original grantors and does not transfer with the land. own solicitor Ursillo suggested a right-of-way agreement, which would enable the town to retain ownership and control of that portion of land while also granting perpetual land access to the property owners, similar to an easement.

It was noted for the record that although the solicitor's office would draft the Right-of-way agreement; the Petitioners would be responsible for securing the legal description of the land and a proper land survey much like the requirements of the abandonment. The right-of-way agreement would be presented to the council for final approval.

F2. Stephen R. Mascena, Bristol Picture Frame, 379 High Street re - request for 30-minute parking (M-F 10 a.m. - 4 p.m.) sign in front of business establishment on the west side of High Street

a. recommendation - Town Administrator and Chief of Police

b. recommendation - Town Administrator and Department of Public Works

Parella/Sweeney- Voted unanimously to refer this matter to the Town Solicitor so that he may draft ordinance language for Council consideration on February 7, 2024.

Prior to the vote being taken, it was noted for the record that the petition sent notice that they were unable to attend the meeting due to covid and asked for council consideration of their petition even in their absence.

It was highlighted that the petitioners had preexisting "no parking" signs at that location dating back to 1980; however, the sign was recently stolen. Since the sign was installed before the requirement of adding it to the ordinances, the council would need to incorporate it into the town ordinance before replacing the signs, ensuring that the parking restrictions can be enforced.

F3. Charles Eli Dunn, Folklore, LLC, d/b/a Folklore Provisions, 301 Hope Street - request for one additional BV Liquor License (tentative 1st reading on February 7, 2024, and call for public hearing on February 28, 2024)

a. recommendation - Town Administrator and Fire Chief

b. recommendation - Town Administrator and Chief of Police

c. recommendation - Town Administrator and Department of Community Development

Teixeira/Parella- Voted unanimously to refer the matter to the Town Solicitor to draft an ordinance for one additional Class BV Limited License for council consideration on February 7, 2024; and schedule the public hearing for the February 28, 2024, council meeting.

Prior to the vote being taken, Charles "Eli" Dunn and Rachael Lopes Almeida, proprietors of Folklore Provisions, spoke before the council. They emphasized the restaurant's overarching theme, highlighting its Azorean-inspired cuisine served during breakfast and lunch. The duo clarified that their request for a liquor license was specifically to serve brunch cocktails on Sundays. While their current intention is limited to serving alcohol during Sunday brunch—offering beverages like mimosas and Bloody Marys—they mentioned the possibility of expanding to additional days in the future, though not at present.

The council agreed by consensus to adhere to past practices, deciding to take the next steps to grant a limited liquor license. A six-month review was agreed upon, during which the petitioners would have the opportunity to modify their license for a full liquor license. This interim measure would permit them to serve mimosas on Sundays until the review takes place.

- c. Joe Balestracci letter in favor

Teixeira/Sweeney- Voted unanimously to adopt the Traffic Calming Policy as presented.

Prior to the vote being taken, Town Administrator Contente highlighted the recent policy revision as per the council's request. He detailed the alterations in the eligibility criteria for the traffic calming program, particularly focusing on the traffic study aspect. He provided insights into how the study identifies 85th percentile speeds of 5mph or higher, serving as a guide to establish safe speed limits. Additionally, he explained the rationale behind using this as a benchmark for determining eligibility criteria for speed bumps.

It was noted that additional revisions included procedures for the removal of traffic calming devices and adjustments to petition signature requirements. The signature criteria was modified from the original 70% required signatures within a 200' street radius to 60% of the signatures needed from an "area of influence". It was clarified that the determination of the area of influence would be made on a case-by-case basis. Vice Chairwoman Parella expressed her concerns about not having a precise definition of the area of influence and disliked its subjective nature. Police Chief Lynch responded, explaining that the council had oversight, and while the police department would present a recommendation for the area of influence, the council ultimately had the authority to expand it if deemed necessary.

Discussions ensued regarding common traffic calming practices utilized by the town that included electronic speed feedback signs, traffic speed humps, and roadway narrowing(s).

Members of the council expressed their overall approval of the revision to the policy.

I2. Sharon and Warren Wollschlager, 123 Beach Road re Voter Initiative to enact a proposed ordinance prohibiting Deer Hunting on Town of Bristol Properties as follows
"all forms of deer hunting, including but not limited to bow hunting, on all property owned, leased or otherwise controlled by the Town of Bristol is here by prohibited" council to enact the proposed ordinance -
"all forms of deer hunting, including but not limited to bow hunting, on all property owned, leased or otherwise controlled by the Town of Bristol is here by prohibited"

a. Memo Clerk Cordeiro- re BOC signature qualification

Teixeira/Sweeney- Voted unanimously to deny the proposed ordinance

Prior to the vote being taken, Clerk Cordeiro notes a letter in opposition was received from the New England Back Country Hunters & Anglers and recorded as received at meeting.

Sharron and Warren Wollschlager, residing at 123 Beach Road address the council expressing concerns about Bristol's cooperative agreement with the Department of Environmental Management (DEM) for bowhunting. They worry about safety, particularly for residents near the hunting area, and question the new archery proficiency requirements. The couple, with backgrounds in public health, dispute the claimed correlation between reducing deer population and lowering tick-borne diseases, citing a lack of empirical data. They also express ethical concerns about bowhunting. Despite a recent DEM study, their concerns remain, leading them to collect signatures for a Voter initiative. They request Mr. Dennis Tabella, a respected director of Defenders of Animals, to address the council and share additional concerns.

Dennis Tabella, a former Bristol resident & director of Defeneders of Animals, residing at 160 Andros Road, Warwick RI expresses serious concerns about the proposed bowhunting ordinance. He highlights the population control inefficiency of hunting, citing the bounce-back factor in deer reproduction. Mr. Tabella points out that towns like Providence and East Providence, without hunting seasons, successfully manage their deer populations. He draws attention to the collision issues during mating and hunting seasons, emphasizing the danger of having hunting seasons in densely populated areas like Bristol.

Mr. Tabella discusses the cruelty of bow hunting, referencing studies from various states that question its effectiveness and humaneness. He challenges the perceived connection between hunting and Lyme disease, arguing that other animals also carry ticks. Mr. Tabella further raises ethical concerns about funding sources for the Department of Environmental Management (DEM), calling it "blood money" from hunting licenses.

Mr. Tabella requests the Town Council to delay voting on the ordinance, providing time to present studies from schools and colleges that question the effectiveness and ethics of bow hunting. He urges the council to seek input from experts in other states and towns before entering into agreements with the DEM. He advocates for exploring non-lethal methods for population control and warns against turning Bristol into another town with collision issues due to extensive deer hunting.

Warren Wollschlager suggests that the council carefully consider insights from experts in other areas before making decisions. He acknowledges the argument that a reduction in roadkill is correlated with an increase in harvesting, emphasizing the importance of scrutinizing the data. Mr. Wollschlager presents data from 2021, indicating that while the roadkill decreased from 34 to 41 (a 30% reduction), the harvest increased from 16 to 63, marking a 400% rise. He points out that when comparing the same data to the previous year, there is a 20% increase in roadkill since the implementation of the program.

At this point in the meeting, the council recesses from 7:20 pm to 7:25 pm to allow a computer reboot.

Dylan Ferreira, the white-tailed deer biologist at the Rhode Island Department of Environmental Management (DEM), presented alongside colleagues including the supervising biologist overseeing the wildlife section, the outreach biologist supervisor, and members of the Law Enforcement Division.

Mr. Ferreira outlined the DEM's mission to protect, restore, and enhance the environment of Rhode Island, ensuring its appeal for residents, visitors, and families. The specific emphasis is on conserving and managing the state's freshwater and wildlife resources for equitable and sustainable use.

Mr. Ferreira highlighted the funding sources, which include both Federal and State contributions derived from hunting and fishing licenses. The importance of the Pitman-Robertson Act of 1937 was emphasized, as it serves as a self-imposed tax by hunters to generate funds for the conservation and preservation of wildlife, ensuring their existence for future generations.

Mr. Ferreira delivered a PowerPoint presentation, Highlighting the following:

- o Human intervention is needed to restore balance
- o Best management option to reduce the deer population is through legal regulated hunting

Mr. Ferreira highlighted the significant increase in the harvest of deer, noting that it had doubled from the previous year and tripled from the five-year average. Vehicle collisions decreased by 31% compared to the previous year, with no reported injuries to the public or hunters, as required by law. The presentation compared the trends in deer harvest and vehicle collisions, emphasizing that despite consistent efforts and the same number of motorists and hunters over the years, there was an increase in hunting this year. The data showed a shift where the hunter-fall harvest exceeded deer-vehicle collisions for the first time. Mr. Ferreira emphasized the importance of managing the deer population through hunting to prevent suffering deaths from vehicle collisions and ensure that harvested deer are used for consumption by hunters and their families.

Councilman Sweeney raised a question to Dylan regarding Sharan and Warren's assertion that the deer population would self-regulate without hunting, as females would not reproduce due to overpopulation. In response, Mr. Ferreira explained that in an ideal scenario, a natural environment without human interference would allow the population to balance itself. However, in Bristol, the presence of various human factors, such as gardens and agriculture, artificially increases the resources available to deer, leading to continuous breeding and population growth. Mr. Ferreira emphasized that the landscape in Bristol, with its wild factors, contributes to the high deer-vehicle collision rates, making it an issue that needs attention. He highlighted the importance of managing the deer population to prevent it from reaching a level where collisions become uncontrollable and emphasized the need for ongoing intervention to address the situation.

Councilman Ley expressed gratitude to Dylan for the presentation and raised a question about the varying deer harvest numbers in different locations, suggesting the possibility of reconsidering hunting in areas with lower harvests. He questioned whether such a decision might lead to an influx of hunters in areas with higher deer populations. Mr. Ferreira clarified that the high harvest in certain areas is due to their size and availability for hunters, and closing hunting in low-harvest areas could lead to an increase in the deer population there, causing potential issues. Councilman Ley acknowledged the complexity of the situation, expressing concern about unintended consequences. Mr. Ferreira explained that this is the first year for hunting on town properties, and the high harvest in some areas is expected due to their size. He cautioned against closing areas with lower deer numbers, as it indicates the effectiveness of the hunting program, emphasizing the need to maintain efforts to prevent the population from bouncing back.

Councilman Ley referenced previous discussions about the effectiveness of the deer management program, acknowledging the positive impact reflected in the increased harvest numbers. However, he suggested waiting for another year of data to make a definitive assessment. Mr. Ferreira expressed agreement with the progress, noting a significant rise from 24 to 63 in the current year, and emphasizing the success in reducing the deer population. He anticipates a potential decrease in harvest next year due to the program's effectiveness. Mr. Ferreira envisions a future balance in deer population stability if external factors, like property openings or closures, remain constant, indicating a positive trajectory for the program.

Discussions ensued regarding regulating and implementation of hunting on private property.

Councilman Ley shared a personal experience of a deer collision involving his white Honda Pilot while in route to a hockey game with his kids. He expressed the added concern and complexity of such incidents when children are present. Councilman Ley highlighted the potential dangers, including swerving into oncoming traffic, emphasizing the nerve-racking nature of these situations. However, he acknowledged a 30% reduction in deer collisions since the previous year, expressing surprise and optimism about the positive direction. Councilman Ley suggested waiting for another year of data to confirm the sustained improvement. Mr. Ferreira agreed that vehicle collisions are a significant concern for public safety and expressed relief at the reduction in collisions despite the increased harvest, emphasizing the importance of monitoring the trend over time.

Vice Chairwoman Parella asked about the number of private properties allowing hunting in town. Mr. Ferreira explained that individuals can decide to permit hunting on their property, but specific locations are not disclosed for privacy reasons. Councilman Teixeira highlighted the sensitivity of revealing private hunting areas. Mr. Ferreira mentioned that most deer harvests in the state occur on private property, but in Bristol, town properties contribute significantly due to limited alternatives. The increase in Bristol's harvest was attributed to deer concentration on specific town properties.

Councilman Sweeney inquired about any issues related to hunting in Bristol during the past season, emphasizing the distinction between trophy hunting and hunting for sustainability. Mr. Ferreira noted that the majority of hunters prioritize hunting for food or recreational purposes, with trophy hunting being a secondary consideration.

Chief Lynch, responding to concerns about safety and issues, explained that the police department, in collaboration with DEM, monitored the hunting activities closely. Lieutenant St. Pierre collected data on service calls, public safety issues, and concerns, finding no significant hazards after 12 weeks of reporting. Chief Lynch assured that public safety was prioritized, and any concerns raised were addressed promptly.

Lieutenant Adam Hill, from DEM's divisional law enforcement, highlighted the proactive measures taken, including increased patrols and approximately 100 checks on hunting locations. He reported a few violations, such as the lack of deer tags and archery proficiency, but corrective actions were taken. Lieutenant Hill also addressed calls for improperly disposed deer carcasses and instances of hunter harassment, emphasizing the resolution of these situations through education and communication. Overall, there were no hunting safety-related issues, and violations were comparable to statewide norms.

Councilman Sweeney inquired about the hunting process and whether there would be a balanced population where hunting might not be needed every year. Mr. Ferreira stated that hunting would likely be necessary annually to manage the deer population effectively.

Vice Chairwoman Parella raised concerns about the length of the hunting season, which spans from September to January. Mr. Ferreira explained that the extended season allows more opportunities for hunters, especially those with limited availability on weekends. Mr. Ferreira defended the season's length, emphasizing increased chances of a successful deer harvest.

Mr. Ferreira noted that shortening the season could decrease hunter success. He also addressed the issue of access points to hunting areas, acknowledging conflicts with residents but emphasizing the importance of providing access for effective deer management. Mr. Ferreira further suggested working together to evaluate access points and parking locations, acknowledging the challenges but emphasizing the need to balance access and harvest reduction.

Councilman Teixeira acknowledged differing perspectives on the presented data and emphasized the need for current efforts due to safety concerns caused by increasing deer sightings in residential areas.

Councilman Ley underscored the value of the observed 30% reduction in the deer population, suggesting the potential benefits of collecting additional data over the next year or two to assess long-term trends. He connected the issue to public safety, particularly emphasizing the impact on automobile collisions and the potential for a safer environment in Bristol with sustained reductions.

Vice Chairwoman Parella shared a personal experience of a deer in her yard and expressed the necessity of managing the deer population for both safety and ecological reasons, advocating for continuing the program for at least another year.

Councilman Ley added that a report at the end of the hunting season would be valuable for further analysis. Acknowledging the resource constraints faced by the DEM. He expressed interest in analyzing future data, particularly focusing on private land numbers and potential growth in town-owned properties' harvest.

Councilman Teixeira expressed gratitude to the individuals who provided testimony and recognized the efforts of the DEM in contributing valuable information to the council's decision-making process. The appreciation extended to both experts and community members for their contributions to the ongoing dialogue on this critical matter.

Chairman Calouro shared his personal experience of living near Roger Williams and frequently having deer in his yard. He highlighted the beauty of these creatures and clarified that the Council is not advocating for hunting but rather for controlling the deer population. He acknowledged the two sides of the debate regarding Lyme disease and expressed personal concern, citing a family member's struggle with the illness. He emphasized that while there are other carriers of Lyme disease, deer are strong carriers based on his research.

Chairman Calouro assured that the decision was not made hastily and involved extensive research, multiple meetings, and public awareness efforts. He mentioned that the Council delayed the decision for a year to facilitate more discussions. Despite potential disagreements, he emphasized the thoroughness of the process and the Council's faith in the presented information. Chairman Calouro expressed gratitude to those who signed the petition and participated in the discussions. He commended the respectful mannerisms in the room, recognizing the emotional attachment people may have to the subject and appreciating the civil discourse during the meeting.

13. Director Parks & Recreation Rensehausen re - Request from RWU Students for Beach entry building replacement

Teixeira/Ley- Voted unanimously to appropriate $1500 from the Town Council Contingency account in support of this program and receive and file.

Prior to the vote being taken, Assistant Park and Recreation Director Tim Shore provides context to the project, explaining that the college students from Roger Williams are part of the American Institute of Architecture Students (AIAS). The students, Dominic Cavalho and Ryan Descantis, share their design for renovating a booth at the town beach and sports complex. Assistant Director Shore reveals that the project originated when the students sought a community project, and town officials proposed the aging booth as an ideal candidate. He mentions that the booth has shown signs of aging, requiring assistance from public works to reset it on blocks.

Mr. Cavalho presents the design, emphasizing features like a larger footprint, bilingual signage, and contextualizing the structure within Bristol's history. He specifically notes the curvature approach inspired by ship-making features to resemble Bristol's maritime history. The incorporation of a sail cloth and also incorporating some lateral slats, 16 of which are cut off and then 18 go up from the floor to the roof, representing 1680, connecting with the town's founding year in 1680.

Mr. Descantis adds insights about their organization's goals, mentioning that he represents the architecture program as the Vice President of AIAS and also serves as the project manager for Freedom by Design. Freedom by Design allows students to gain real-world architectural experience while serving the communities around them. Ryan discusses the collaborative design process, involving fellow students, mentors who are licensed architects and contractors, and consultations with the Practice Direct department to address concerns and needs.

The structure is planned to start construction in early February and be completed by Memorial Day, with an estimated cost of $5,800.

Council members appreciate the unique design and inquire about specific details, such as the opening mechanism for the cash box and the possibility of solar power. The presentation receives positive feedback, with some members noting the design's appeal after initial skepticism.

Councilman Teixeira recommends allocating $1500 for the council contingency fund to assist with the project.

Sweeney/Teixeira- Voted unanimously to receive and place this matter on file

Prior to the vote being taken, Councilman Sweeney expresses appreciation for the DEM report, particularly in addressing wetlands and flooding issues. He references recent flooding on Hope Street due to heavy rain and asks Diane about the cost estimates mentioned on pages 589 of the report. Director Williamson explains that the town has been addressing the Silver Creek watershed through phased approaches in the capital budget and grants. They have worked on stream clean-outs, projects like the golf course, and are currently focusing on drainage basins like High View and Varnum. Diane mentions ongoing initiatives, including stormwater improvements and a tree planting grant for climate resilience. The town also acquires open space to prevent development in the watershed. Diane emphasizes the importance of maintenance, including sending letters to property owners near wetlands or streams, reminding them not to dump debris. She assured that the report is not just for public awareness but is being actively implemented.
