Consider Board Applications from Michael Rowland, Joe Paolucci and Dan Carlson.

Brayak provided a brief overview of each applicant based on their applications. While he does not know either Rowland or Paolucci, they have good backgrounds and he is aware of the of the quality work Paolucci has done to his property.

Carlson was invited to speak on his behalf and stated he has come before the board on multiple occasions. His background is in historic restoration. He has had to work under stringent guidelines, but also understands how to make things work on a limited budget. He has a passion for quality work and appreciates the design review process.

Barker stated he knows and has worked with each applicant and agreed with Brayak that Rowland and Paolucci have strong backgrounds and Paolucci has done good work on his building, but their backgrounds are more business oriented, while Carlson's background is more practical. Staff/Committee Comments

Murphy launched a discussion of design standards and processes. He thanked the Committee members for providing him with three resources: Design Review Committee Guidebook, Downtown Design Standards, and the Secretary of the Interior Standards of Rehabilitation. He anticipates a lot of activity due to growth and development. All agreed clarifications to the documents and processes should be made and to have ongoing dialogue about what the DRC should and shouldn't do, if it should be expanded beyond the C-3 district, such as to parks, etc. During discussion regarding signs, Barker pointed out that much of what is and is not allowable is based on trends at the time of the decision; trends change. Brayak expressed interest in the DRC being invited to the Planning Commission streetscape design discussions. The group decided they should continue to meet as needed on the first Wednesday of the month.

Adjournment
