PLAY

In our 30th year of providing playgrounds for kids in impoverished communities, our generous partners continued to bring splashes of color, sounds of laughter and shouts of joy to what were once barren spaces. Both refurbished and new playgrounds were constructed in a variety of settings: community centers, orphanages, children's hospitals, churches, schools, and more. No matter the setting, the goal was the same - to bless the children, to let them know they are loved, and to let them simply be kids! As often as possible, we worked through the local church, equipping pastors to bless their communities with a place where families can gather, kids can grow, and relationships can be built.

Burleson's youth test their sea legs at the BRICK Boat-Nanza.

"What sets our parks apart is the standard we keep them at. You can always rely on our parks to be clean and well-maintained," said Deputy Director of Parks Jessica Martinez. "Our goal is to make sure the community has top notch facilities." Over the summer, the Burleson Parks Department renovated Cedar Ridge Park and enhanced park services to include the new playground at Allwood Crest Park and installing the new playground at the new park. We're intentional on having the best facilities for our community. We're excited to see what our Superintendent Daniel Shafer explained, "We do surveys for what the community wants to see in a playground or a park. It helps us and staff to be able to really listen to the community."
