On November 30, $925 was raised for Russell Farm through donations on Giving Tuesday. These funds will be donated to the Friends of the Farm.

We are continuing to work on our Red Chair art lectures. We conducted a joint program on December 10 with artist Emily Broussard and performer Shelly O'Neal. The total attendance was 25. The lecture was in conjunction with an exhibit of oil paintings completed this summer at a residency week at Russell Farm by Ms. Broussard.

Saturday, Dec 11, six of our regular Saturday sketch group set up in the Baker building with holiday art for sale during the Christmas on the Farm event.

We are continuing to plan for exhibits in the Baker building. In addition to lectures and residencies by artist and writers.

Our Saturday free sketch group is doing well with regular attendance.

The art advisory committee did not meet this quarter but has a meeting scheduled for January 11, 2022.

The agenda will be focusing on discussing streamlining the schedule, preparation for the lecture series, and ways to increase awareness of our adult class offerings.

This spring we are offering two master classes in printmaking and oil painting. In addition, a full schedule of both adult and children's class on Saturday afternoons.

Upcoming programs/events:

Upcoming art events include a February Red Chair Lecture by quilters, Barb and Ernie McCraw, and an April lecture by Tome Sale and Renata Lucia (These artists decided to postpone a scheduled January event due to recent Covid uptick.)

April 16 Autism Awareness Event

April 30 Art and Arbor Day

Summer art camps are on the calendar with 3 weeks taught by Jana's Art Pad and 1 week by Emily Broussard.

3. Receive a report from the Historical Committee. (Presenter: Barbara Black, Chairperson Historical Committee)

The Historical Advisory Committee met November 2, 2021. Members of the committee were in agreement the Russell Boren Home should be open for tours December 11, 2021 during Christmas on the Farm. Suggestions were made for docents to wear shields or masks while conducting tours. Guests entering the home would be required to wear masks provided by Russell Farm Art Center. Tours were given from 10:00 AM until 4:00PM by docents. Greeters were present to welcome guests to the Russell Boren Home. Forty-five guests signed the register.

It was a special day to have Kathi Hood as a guest. Kathi Hood and her mother had relatives that lived in Saline County Arkansas and remembered Glenn Families living in the area. Dr. Robert Morrow Russell and Martha Glenn Russell left Saline County Arkansas to settle in Texas. An article written by Charlsa Boren Bently "Martha's Story" about Martha Glenn Russell was published in the fall of 2021 Saline County History and Heritage Society Journal. They were so impressed by Martha Glenn Russell from the article they wanted to visit the farm, Martha bought.

Handicapped or mobility restricted guest were discussed at the November 16, 2021 meeting of the Historical Advisory Committee. Handicapped/Mobility restricted parking for the guests will be provided on the front row nearest the bridge and in the area behind the Hay Barn. Mary Ann Spaun, Supervisor of Russell Farm Art Center had signage made for the front gate parking indicating the available parking areas.

November 16, 2021 the Historical Advisory Committee met to discuss Nights of Lights and Christmas on the Farm. Members picked up flyers to be distributed at Old Town, churches, hotels, Jellystone Park and senior living facilities. Members volunteered for various tasks needed for Nights of Lights and Christmas on the Farm. They gave tours of the Dairy Barn, shared information about Charlie Boren, drove the tractor needed to provide hay rides, helped decorate the farm and were greeters and docents. Mary Ann Spaun, Supervisor Russell Farm Art Center shared confirmation of vendors, food trucks, demonstrators and music for December events.

December 15, 2021 the Historical Advisory Committee met to set dates for meeting in 2022 and to provide a review of Nights of Lights and Christmas on the Farm. Suggestions were given for planning for 2022 holiday events. Mary Ann Spaun is to be commended for a successful holiday season at Russell Farm Art Center.

The Historical Advisory Committee is a team working together to preserve the history of Russell Farm Art Center. The members are grateful for the opportunity to serve.

Art Advisory Committee BPAC Report
September 23, 2022
Submitted by Tom Sale, Art Committee Advisory Chair

Saturday's sketch group continues with an average of 8-10 participants per week. We are developing a small core of regular artists who are donating, teaching, and volunteering at farm events.

A successful series of kids' art camps were held during the summer with Jana Perkins. The classes were at full enrollment.

Tom Sale has started a fundraising program to turn the current garage into a working Art Studio for painting/printmaking/classes. Almost $4000 was donated this summer.

Maria Villa had a reception in October for her artwork in the Baker Building Gallery and donated 100% of sales to the farm which currently is at $750.

Karen Kaiser, sociology instructor for Hill College was awarded a summer study grant from the college and developed a series of craft ideas to use at farm events for kids. In addition, she purchased some art storage cabinets and organized our craft materials. She has also been offering a low-cost series of craft events for both kids and adults and donating the proceeds to the farm.

A large donation of woodworking equipment and tools was donated to the farm by the family of TCU art chairman who passed away in 2019. The farm will be able to make a substantial upgrade to its woodworking shop and any items not used will be sold with proceeds going towards art studio building fund.

With help and direction from Louise Boren, a new gallery room from Charlie Boren's relief sculpture was created in the Dairy Barn. The work area was also reconfigured to show off new sculptures.

The Art Council had a zoom meeting May 7th.

A wood carving class was taught by Harry Seurkamp this September and had 6 attendees.

Historical Advisory Committee BPAC Report
September 23, 2022
Submitted by Barbara Black, Historical Committee Advisory Chair

It is with regret I inform the members of BPAC of the loss of Historical Advisory Committee member Mr. Philo Waters. Mr. Waters passed away March 24, 2022. His presence at our meetings is missed. The Historical Advisory Committee was blessed to have his wisdom. Philo Waters enriched our lives and lives of many in the community of Burleson.

At the Historical Advisory Committee meeting in March, the Committee recognized the ten-year anniversary of the gift of Russell Farm Art Center by Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Boren to the City of Burleson. A Spring bouquet with a note from the Historical Advisory Committee members was delivered to Mrs. Louise Boren by Mary Ann Spaun and Barbara Black. The Historical Advisory Committee members assisted in the planning of the 10 Year Anniversary. Invitations were sent to former board members, Mayor Chris Fletcher, City Council members and city staff, supporters of Russell Farm Art center and citizens of Burleson. The celebration was April 23, 2022 in the Chesapeake Building.

Lee Jarrett was honored for his years of service at Russell Farm Art Center. A breakfast was given in the newly remodeled Chesapeake Building March 29, 2022. Members volunteered to serve as cooks and servers for the thank you breakfast.

A sign for the cistern in the backyard of the Russell Boren Home was discussed during April. Mrs. Louise Boren requested the sign as a way for guests to learn about cisterns. Members were asked to work on information for a narrative to be placed on the sign. The narrative will be as follows pending additions or corrections.

Cistern

A cistern is a rain water collection device as opposed to a well which draws water from the ground. Stone cisterns were found near older houses and on farms. The roof of the kitchen, which was near the cistern, was used as a rain collector, with downspouts delivering rain water to the cistern. The collected water was used for laundry and to water gardens.

It is under consideration to add a picture to the sign showing what the cistern might have looked like during the time it was used on Russell Farm.

The Russell Boren Home was open to guests 10:00 a.m. - 1:00 p.m. April 23, 2022 for docent guided tours on April 23, 2022 for the 10th Anniversary. The home was temporarily closed at 11:00 a.m. for docents to attend the 10th Anniversary ceremony. The Russell Boren Home has been open for tours in May and June and will continue to be open the First Saturday of each month.

May 13, 2022, members discussed a schematic sign of the Russell Farm Art Center and narrative historical signs for the Russell Boren Home, Dairy Barn, Baker Building, and Chesapeake Building. Specific requirements were established. All signs will be weatherproof, metal, font suitable for a historical farm, sepia in color and mounted on a standard display pole. The funding for the cistern sign will be paid for with funds provided by Russell Farm Art Center and narrative historical signs will be paid for with donations. Plans for securing donations have not been decided at this time.

Historical Advisory Committee members met June 7, 2022 and discussed the size specifications for the narrative signs and the schematic sign for Russell Farm Art Center. Specifications were suggested 8 ½" x 11" for the cistern, Russell Boren Home, Dairy Barn, Baker Building, and Chesapeake Building and the schematic map to be 18" x 18". The narratives for the buildings and a redrawing of the schematic map have been placed on hold as the Historical Advisory Committee members did not meet in July or August.

A debriefing of the Texas Heritage Festival was also discussed. Positives: The Honda Helpers, helpers from the Brick, water available for volunteers, food trays for volunteers, donuts for vendors and volunteers before opening. Suggestions for 2023: Keep the time 10 AM-4 PM for Texas Heritage Festival, provide preordered lunch for volunteers/vendors, the office sofa and chair area to be designated as a cool space for volunteers, more hand-held tally counters for staff/parking attendants and a hand-held PA system.

September was a short meeting with an update about some improvements to the farm during July and August. The Dairy Barn and Chesapeake Buildings have new ADA toilets and entrance ramps. The Dairy Barn storage closet near the back door has been converted to additional gallery space for Charlie Boren Art, the interior of the Chesapeake Building was repainted, and internet connection is in the process of being updated.

Also, some of the many classes and presentations in the summer for children and adults were shared with the members. There were writing workshops, a talk by an arborist, Fun on the Farm Camps, Junior Master Gardner classes, an herbal presentation, Saturday science classes for youth, A Watermelon Afternoon celebration for Parks and Recreation month, the Texas Heritage Festival, art classes for youth and adults, and homeschool classes. The farm has been a busy happy place this summer for the citizens of Burleson. The members were pleased the farm continues to serve the community in such a positive way.

Members of the Historical Advisory Committee appreciate your support in their efforts to support and sustain history at Russell Farm Art Center. Thank you for the opportunity to serve.
