Discussion: Kratochwill gave a history of the design review committee and it's purpose and function for the City. Cindy Reynolds stated that the signage was the same banners as used by Hecks' vegetable stand that the Reynolds had purchased along with the Hecks' building that is being re-furbished at a different location. Cindy was asked about the future plans and was unsure at this point what would be the long term plan as far as signage and structures, but did say they intend to have a refrigerated unit placed at the site along with a generator to power it.
