Subject: Landmark Applications

Amy, I'm writing to you because I don't know who on the GV Historical Commission prepared these applications, but they both need more work. The basic problem with both applications is the lack of a comprehensive factual narrative. This is important because, while the commissioners may have the time to wade through a pile of supporting documents to ascertain their significance, the supervisors and board staff will probably not do that.

The Eagle Hose one we can probably process perhaps with a little more information. Apart from the questions I sent this morning, when did the building stop being used as a firehouse and what use is being made of it now. There is a reference in the application to it being home of the Fire Safe Council, but I believe it now has offices on Spring Hill.

The brewery/sawmill application needs some more work. In addition to a narrative, the application contains too much redundant material, too much material which is very difficult to read, excerpts from some documents which are not identified and some personal information, such as the documents about a medical device, which really do not belong in the application.

Feel free to pass this on as appropriate. We're going to try to process the Eagle Hose application before our November 15 meeting. Commissioners Carman and Tracy are the evaluators; they may have more questions.

FIRE DEPARTMENT HISTORY

The Grass Valley Fire Department was first organized in 1853 with the establishment of a Hook and Ladder Company. It is the third oldest active fire department west of the Mississippi River. June 7, 1858 marked the day that the fire company was organized under law as the Grass Valley Hook and Ladder Company. In 1861 the Grass Valley Hook and Ladder Company was reorganized into Protection Hose Company No. 1 and then again into Protection Engine Company No. 1. The original station No. 1 was located at Main and School Streets, it later moved to the current location of City Hall and then to Brighton Street where it has remained since.

Over the course of 42 years three additional ladder companies were added to the department. On July 18, 1866, Eagle Hose Company No. 2 was organized and was located on East Main Street near City Hall, where the Fire Safe Council of Nevada County maintains there offices. On March 31, 1891 the Reliance Hose Company No. 3 was established with a station on Race Street, which still serves the Fire Department, it is no longer an active station but remains part of our rich history. In 1895 the Defiance Hose Company No. 4 was organized to protect the Boston Ravine area, located at Mill Street and Empire Street. The Defiance Hose Company operated for nearly 25 years, but disbanded in 1920.

In 1915, the fire department purchased its first motorized piece of fire apparatus, The Pierce Arrow, and by 1916 two additional motorized fire apparatus were added to the fleet.

The Grass Valley Fire Department currently operates out of three stations. Station No. 1 located on Brighton Street and Station No. 2 located on Sierra College Drive and Station No. 5 located at 201 Providence Mine, Nevada City. Today the Department has 29 career personnel and provides protection to the 5 square miles of the City of Grass Valley as well as the City of Nevada City and outlying portions of Western Nevada County.

GRASS VALLEY FIRE DEPARTMENT

GRASS VALLEY today has one of the best organized volunteer fire departments in the State. Its efficiency has been proven upon many occasions and with our excellent water system Grass Valley is as well protected from the ravages of the Fire King as any city on the Coast.

The first fire organization was a hook and ladder company formed in 1853, before the town had suffered from a conflagration. This company existed for about a year and made a parade in uniform in October, 1854. The first Board of Trustees passed an ordinance on July 3, 1855, which required the occupant of every house to keep on hand a vessel containing at least fifty gallons of water and four fire buckets for each story of his house.

The first regular fire company organized under the law was formed June 7, 1858, and known as the Grass Valley Fire Hook and Ladder Company. Its first officers were: S. M. Smith, foreman; J. J. Dorsey, first assistant foreman; C. R. Edwards, second assistant; E. C. Cheek, secretary, and G. A. Montgomery, treasurer. The company used a building on the corner of Main and School Streets, tendered them by A. B. Dibble. This company did good work and was reorganized June 17, 1861 into Protection Hose Co. No. 1. It was proposed shortly before this to organize a hook and ladder company, the new organization to take the apparatus of the former company. This was done and a fire department was formed, and Union Hook and Ladder Company was formed with N. C. Hammersmith as foreman, John Blake, assistant foreman; Chas. Glassen, president; Sol. Crown, treasurer. Hammersmith soon afterwards decamped with $200 of the companies funds and the organization disbanded. The officers of Protection Hose Company were:—S. D. Leavitt, foreman; G. Hamilton, first assistant; T. J. Cook, second assistant; J. M. Days, secretary; H. Silvester, treasurer.

In March, 1863, Eureka Hose Company, No. 2 was organized with Schenck Glass, foreman; C. R. Clarke, first assistant; John Blake, second assistant. This company disbanded the same year. On August 25, 1863, Tiger Hook, Ladder and Bucket Company, No. 1, was organized as an independent company, but soon after joined the department. The old engine house of the department was destroyed by fire on June 11, 1862, and two lots were purchased from W. S. Byrne and Sam Hodge on Main Street, the present engine house, used also as a city hall, being erected the following year. The first meeting held in the new house was on March 2, 1863.

Eagle Hose Company, No. 2, was organized July 18, 1866, and its first officers were:—John R. Crocker, foreman; E. R. West, first assistant; John W. Hobby, second assistant; C. E. Davis, president; George Murphy, secretary; Peter Brunstetter, treasurer.

The present department is composed of three companies, Protection, No. 1, Eagle, No. 2, and Reliance, No. 3. The cuts of Protection and Eagle companies appear in this edition.

The following are the officers of Protection, No. 1: President, W. H. Morgan; secretary, Henry Daniels; treasurer, Wm. Curtis; foreman, John F. Buckett; first assistant, B. A. Van Slyke; second assistant, A. J. Bovey. Members:—J. P. Miller, Oscar Klein, F. A. Campbell, John Frank, C. J. Miller, Wm. Freeman, James Lucas, W. H. Morgan, H. Daniels, John F. Buckett, John Aver, W. D. Paynter, Wm. Curtis, Chas. Dahlgren, S. J. Kinsman, B. A. Van Slyke, Frank E. Dennen, Wm. Provis, B. F. Schwartz, Theo. A. Kohler, D. S. Collins, A. J. Bovey, C. Temby, Jr., Wm. Henrici, Wm. Simmons.

The officers of Eagle Hose Company are as follows: President, S. R. Wilder; secretary, Geo. A. Wanamake; treasurer, W. G. Lord; foreman, Samuel Blight; first assistant, James Stead; second assistant, Alex. Chesneau. Members:—S. R. Wilder, Geo. A. Wanamake, W. G. Lord, L. C. Snyder, John Lucas, Geo. Wettereau, W. G. Frank, James Hosking, James Stead, G. W. Hobby, John Hocking, Adolph Ruck, Joseph Hall, Thomas F. Collins, C. E. Uren, M. Shewbridge, Alex. Chesneau, John H. UNUSUAL FIRE SIGNAL TO GIVE WORD OF V-E DAY

First public word of the collapse of fighting in Germany, either through a surrender, which is held as a remote possibility or an announcement by General Eisenhower that organized resistance in the Reich has terminated, will be brought to Grass Valleyans through the Grass Valley Fire Department and their alarm system.

Fire Department members, approached by The Morning Union, to provide such a service to the community, in the event that the end of hostilities is received day or night, guaranteed a 24 hour service of notification with a set of signals that cannot be mistaken for fire alarms.

Fire Chief Clare Hughes declared that the firemen would have the signals operating within 60 to 90 seconds of receipt of the word. The Morning Union will notify the Fire Department, if, when and how the message announcing V-E day is received.

At the present time it is planned to use a combined bell and siren signal, quite different from any of the fire alarm signals, but within a few days, a battery of sirens may be cut in and used for announcing of end-of-hostilities news.

HELP THE FIRE LADDIES.

GRASS VALEY firemen want to start the new year with better facilities for reaching the scene of a conflagration and in their efforts to increase their efficiency they are entitled to the hearty support of the people. They have prepared a letter, a copy of which was published in The Union yesterday, and a copy of which will be sent to every property owner in the city. This communication sets forth the desire of the firemen to procure horses and other equipment, the cost of which will aggregate about $1000. The city trustees agree to pay the cost of maintenance, and property owners are asked to contribute the money needed for the purchase contemplated. This letter has special reference to Protection and Eagle hose companies. Defiance hose company authorizes the statement that if the city will meet the expense of taking care of a horse the members of the company will raise the money to purchase the animal.

This matter should be acted upon at once. There is no risk of a delay. It should not be necessary for the firemen to go to any property holder and explain that it is desired to keep his belongings from destruction. The man who owns a house knows this and when told of the imperative necessity of making the equipment efficient he should at once contribute to that end.

Give the firemen the horses they want. Subscribe money enough to purchase one for Protection hose company, one for Eagle hose company and one for Defiance hose company. Do not let the firemen have to beg for something that will directly benefit you. If three horses are not enough get them others. Provide for the changes needed by the purchase of the animals.

This will be one of the best investments the city has ever made. It will also encourage the men who are ever ready to lend their aid to preserve the property of others from destruction, and who risk life and limb in the performance of duty unrewarded save by the consciousness that they are doing what they consider a duty.

It would not be bad policy to anticipate the sending out of those letters asking for help and to make voluntary contributions to the fund. Show the firemen that you appreciate them and should occasion arise they will give you abundant reason to be thankful that you came to their assistance.

PLACE SELECTED FOR NEW FIRE ALARM BOX

The new fire alarm box to be purchased by Eagle Hose Company will be installed at the intersection of Maiden lane and Washington street and will be numbered 21. The selection is a good one for the residents of Washington street hill and vicinity, as the fire alarm boxes in that neighborhood are far apart.

During the year I have condemned several stove pipes running through wooden partitions and have had them put in proper condition.

At the beginning of the year there was in possession of the department the following apparatus and supplies:

Two thousand and fifty feet of 2 1/2 inch cotton hose, 250 feet rubber hose, 2 hose wagons, 4 hose carts, 4 ladders, 2 fire hooks, 2 single harness, 4 Anderson nozzles, 7 rubber nozzles, 25 spanners, 11 torches, 1 patent hose valve, 2 hose jackets, 8 axes, 125 feet 5/8-inch rubber hose, 4 wagon jacks, 3 lanterns, 6 all cone, 2 wagon wrenches, 2 fire extinguishers, 2 six-inch gauge, 2 horse blankets, 8 rubber coats, 4 monkey wrenches, 3 hammers, 1 tool box containing 1 coupling expander, 1 pressure gauge, 1 monkey wrench, 1 oil can, 2 box wrenches, 24 coupling rings, 2 salting tools.

All of the hose is in good condition. There are 125 hydrants distributed throughout the city. I have had them all flushed and repaired and they are all in good condition. I would recommend that the city purchase two fire extinguishers for Eagle Hose Co., No. 2. I would also recommend that the city add one fire alarm box to the system every year.

In conclusion I wish to tender my thanks to the officers and members of the fire department for the many acts of kindness and efficiency displayed by them on all occasions and to your honorable board for the diligence displayed by you to keep the department in a manner alike creditable to all concerned.

Respectfully submitted,
GEORGE A. WANAMAKE,
Ex-Officer, Fire Marshal, and Chief Engineer, Grass Valley Fire Department.

BURN LIGHTS BY METER AFTER FIRST OF APRIL

Active arrangements are being made for the installation of meters by the Pacific Gas and Electric Company on April 1st. Representative Bucher of the lighting corporation is in this city securing all data relative to the number of lights used in business houses and dwellings in the two cities, and gathering all other information so that when the installing crew arrives on the scene there will be nothing to impede progress. The meters will be installed before April first, but the flat rate will be in effect until that date.

Brief history and description of proposed landmark

(attach additional sheets as necessary)

James Walsh established a sawmill to provide lumber for a mining camp that eventually became Grass Valley. Built in July 1850, it was Grass Valley's first business enterprise. Mill and Walsh Streets got their names from this business. James Walsh was elected Justice of the Peace for Grass Valley, served as Chairman of the Board of Supervisors, and served as a State Senator.

From 1873 to 1909 the City Brewery operated on this site, built by Thomas Hodge who was a 55-year resident of Grass Valley and passed away and the neighboring Cornish-style cottage, which still exists. The City Brewery was a thriving business during the Gold Rush, making regular deliveries by wagon to every mining camp within a 30-mile radius.

PIONEER GOES TO MEET MAKER

Thomas Hodge Lies Dead at His Old Home on Mill Street.

He Had Resided in This City for the Past Fifty-five Years.

Pioneer Thomas Hodge lies dead at his home on Mill street, in the cottage which had been his home for forty-three years. He passed away at 9:50 o'clock Sunday evening, after a long and hopeless illness. The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Congregational church under the auspices of Wiener Tribe of Red Men. Interment will be made in the Red Men's cemetery.

Decedent was a native of Golsithney, England, aged sixty-nine years and eighteen days. He came to Grass Valley at the age of fourteen and engaged with others in mining on Deer creek. After a few years of that life he accumulated considerable money, returned to his native land and induced his father and several other relatives to accompany him back to the new Eldorado. He continued to mine in this section for a few years, but deserted that life to engage in the brewery business. In this he prospered wonderfully, conducting what is now known as the City brewery. From four to six large wagons made regular trips to every mining camp within a radius of thirty miles or more. Later unfortunate speculations proved disastrous. Something like twelve years ago he disposed of his brewery business and retired to a quiet life, though hitherto he had taken a deep interest in all that pertained to city government. He was a man who easily made friends, and to his credit he it said he retained them all to the last. Manifestations of sorrow were heard on all sides when it became known that "Tom" Hodge had breathed his last.

By his death a widow and six children are left. They are Mrs. John Martin, Mrs. T. J. Keleher, Richard Hodge, Mrs. Sarah Ahearn, Samuel Hodge, Mrs. Hitchcock, Alex, John and Miss Lizzie Hodge.

SUIT TO QUIET TITLE.

Thomas Hodge Brings Suit Against Peter Knight, Michael Popp and Others.

Thomas Hodge has brought suit in the superior court against Peter Knight, Louisa Knight, Michael Popp and others to quiet title to property in the city of Grass Valley. The plaintiff alleges that for more than twenty years past he has been the sole owner of the undivided one-half of lot of land lying in Block forty-three and also a like undivided one-half interest in a certain water right flowing from a tunnel on Church Hill in said Grass Valley. A portion of the property in question is that on which the brewery conducted by M. Popp is located.

The complaint further states that the defendants claim some interest in said lots and water right adversely to the plaintiff and that such claims are without right or foundation in law or fact. The plaintiff prays that the defendants be commanded to set up their respective claims to said premises and that they be decreed to have no right.

Good Morning,

I wanted to share with you some of the information on the empty lot next to the stone house often referred to as the 'Hodge House' on Mill St.

In talking with the owner she had believed that the house was originally owned by Judge Walsh and he then sold it to the Hodge Family. With Covid going on I haven't been able to see if there were any legal documents at the county office to support this. However, I did find an interesting map online (<https://www.mynevadacounty.com/DocumentCenter/View/5909/Undated-Village-of-Grass-Valley-Nevada-County-PDF>) where it would allude to Walsh's Mill being on the property at this location as it is just after the bend of Wolf Creek and across from Echo Hill.

Additionally, I found an article which stated that the first business in Grass Valley was Walsh's Mill which was located next to the Foundary which is where the apartments are today. As you can see after the brewery burnt down the foundation wall which looks to be the same type of stones used in the stone house were covered up, but are still intact.

I think it would be good to make sure this history isn't lost and patched over, especially if this is the site of the first business in Grass Valley.

Thank You,

Jedidiah Watson

Hi All, per our discussion at the last meeting, here is the email sent by Jedidiah. At a minimum, I recommend that we be sure no further action is taken on the stones until we confirm this information, in the hope that if this is proven to be such an early business site that the stones can be used productively. Lance, can you add this to a future agenda?

Newfoundland and terrier, and resting upon his early well-earned laurels, is of a very pacific disposition. A few friendly Indians gave their assistance during the night, and Capt. Day, (present County Surveyor,) and another man came in on noticing the fires and disorder. Old Chief Wemeh behaved very well in the matter, gave the party his countenance and furnished the guard of friendly Indians. He also brought the dead body of Holt to the camp, and in all things was friendly, so far as could be observed. The next morning Capt. Day and his friend started for camp "Far West," on Johnson's ranch at Bear River; and the morning after, twenty-four U.S. soldiers arrived, supplied by Major Day, commanding at that station. A hundred miners from Deer Creek also poured in, and in a couple of days they had killed and run off all the Indians. Mr. G. Holt was removed to Stocking's store on Deer Creek, and recovered in ten days. He afterwards went to mining on Deer Creek, below Nevada.

A less cause than these Indian troubles influenced the State to issue $600,000 war bonds for the El Dorado and Mariposa Indian wars, but we believe the Legislature refused Messrs. Walsh and Holt anything for their losses and their services. Perhaps it was because they did not resort to the modus operandi that secured the success of many legislative acts.

Judge Walsh removed to Grass Valley, where he built a sawmill in July, 1850. Among the early settlers were Z. Wheeler, C.W. Wood, B.C. Lamarque, F. Squire, Fowler and others. The first cabin built on Main street, Grass Valley, was by a man named Scott, nearly opposite where the Grass Valley Hotel stood before the fire. The first hotel was built by J. B. Underwood, called "The Mountain Home."

As late as January, 1851, there were but three or four cabins in Grass Valley proper. Shortly after, the population increased rapidly, and an attempt was made by the people to change the name to Centerville, as there were so many places known as Grass Valley it was difficult to have letters properly sent. The growth of Grass Valley in 1851 was most remarkable. Probably no town in the State

 BREWERS OF PALE ALE.

Early in November, 1849, Samuel and George Holt, James Walsh and Zenas Wheeler selected a place about four miles below Grass Valley, and commenced the erection of two saw mills. In March, 1850, as detailed elsewhere, Samuel Holt was killed by Indians and the mill burned. James Walsh and Zenas Wheeler, with G. P. Clark, built a saw mill in Grass Valley near the site of Taylor's Foundry, in June, 1850. This was the first business enterprise in the new town.

During the summer that part of the valley east of Auburn street was fenced in with brush by some parties, who sold it during the summer to A. P. Willey and a man named McClinck. These gentlemen flattered themselves that they had a "good thing," as hay was eighty dollars per ton, and they could cut two heavy crops a year. Before they had fairly begun to improve the place, some miners wandered into the enclosure, sank a shaft through the rich, black soil, and came to a gravel deposit which proved to be very rich with gold. In less than twenty-four hours the whole ranch was staked off in claims fifty feet square, leaving not even a fifty foot claim for the ravaged proprietors.

In August or September, 1850, a man named Morey opened the first store in Grass Valley proper. His stock was kept in a tent upon the lot now occupied by Johnson's furniture store, on Main street. He soon sold to Leighton, Kent and Thomas H. Day, who had been engaged in cutting logs for Walsh & Wheeler, and took part of their stock.

The property consists of a 1 1/2-story, fieldstone Late Victorian vernacular Cornish style cottage. Character defining features of the residence include a moderately sloping gable roof clad with asphalt shingles, two opposing brick chimney at either side of the gable roof, boxed gable eaves, a plain frieze under the gable, a full front porch with a shed roof that is likely replaced years ago, arched brick lintels over the original 6 over 6 light wood-sash windows, and stone sills below the windows, exposed brick from the fireplace on the northern gable end, a four panel period wood front entry door, horizontal replaced v-groove sheeting covering the front foundation, and a sloped southern side yard that provides a full below-grade living area beneath the house featuring a older entry door and a period 6 over 6 light window. The upper gable on the southern elevation is filled with deteriorated clapboard wood siding over the stone masonry tying into a return on the porch that provides some degree of shelter for the lower portion of the house. This is the only documented residence in Grass Valley with this form of fieldstone masonry. It may also be the most important masonry home resembling Cornish construction techniques. The front yard is landscaped with large trees, and rose bushes. The stone masonry is coursed on the front facade and more random with smaller material on the side gables. The stones vary in color and consistency, but appear to be of local origin, including rhyolite, which has been used for corners and edging.

Newfoundland and terrier, and resting upon his early well-earned laurels, is of a very pacific disposition. A few friendly Indians gave their assistance during the night, and Capt. Day, (present County Surveyor,) and another man came in on noticing the fires and disorder. Old Chief Wemeh behaved very well in the matter, gave the party his countenance and furnished the guard of friendly Indians. He also brought the dead body of Holt to the camp, and in all things was friendly, so far as could be observed. The next morning Capt. Day and his friend started for camp "Far West," on Johnson's ranch at Bear River; and the morning after, twenty-four U.S. soldiers arrived, supplied by Major Day, commanding at that station. A hundred miners from Deer Creek also poured in, and in a couple of days they had killed and run off all the Indians. Mr. G. Holt was removed to Stocking's store on Deer Creek, and recovered in ten days. He afterwards went to mining on Deer Creek, below Nevada.

A less cause than these Indian troubles influenced the State to issue $600,000 war bonds for the El Dorado and Mariposa Indian wars, but we believe the Legislature refused Messrs. Walsh and Holt anything for their losses and their services. Perhaps it was because they did not resort to the modus operandi that secured the success of many legislative acts.

Judge Walsh removed to Grass Valley, where he built a sawmill in July, 1850. Among the early settlers were Z. Wheeler, C.W. Wood, B.C. Lamarque, F. Squire, Fowler and others. The first cabin built on Main street, Grass Valley, was by a man named Scott, nearly opposite where the Grass Valley Hotel stood before the fire. The first hotel was built by J. B. Underwood, called "The Mountain Home."

As late as January, 1851, there were but three or four cabins in Grass Valley proper. Shortly after, the population increased rapidly, and an attempt was made by the people to change the name to Centerville, as there were so many places known as Grass Valley it was difficult to have letters properly sent. The growth of Grass Valley in 1851 was most remarkable. Probably no town in the State has ever sprung so suddenly into importance. Much of this was

Early in November, 1849, Samuel and George Holt, James Walsh and Zenas Wheeler selected a place about four miles below Grass Valley, and commenced the erection of two saw mills. In March, 1850, as detailed elsewhere, Samuel Holt was killed by Indians and the mill burned. James Walsh and Zenas Wheeler, with G. P. Clark, built a saw mill in Grass Valley near the site of Taylor's Foundry, in June, 1850. This was the first business enterprise in the new town.

During the summer that part of the valley east of Auburn street was fenced in with brush by some parties, who sold it during the summer to A. P. Willey and a man named McClin-tock. These gentlemen flattered themselves that they had a "good thing," as hay was eighty dollars per ton, and they could cut two heavy crops a year. Before they had fairly begun to improve the place, some miners wandered into the enclosure, sank a shaft through the rich, black soil, and came to a gravel deposit which proved to be very rich with gold. In less than twenty-four hours the whole ranch was staked off in claims fifty feet square, leaving not even a fifty foot claim for the ravaged proprietors.

In August or September, 1850, a man named Morey opened the first store in Grass Valley proper. His stock was kept in a tent upon the lot now occupied by Johnson's furniture store, on Main street. He soon sold to Leighton, Kent and Thomas H. Day, who had been engaged in cutting logs for Walsh & Wheeler, and took part of their stock for the mill.

The Mill Street Foundry of Grass Valley, owned by M. C. Taylor, is another successful enterprise of this kind. In company with William Francy and James M. Lakenan, Mr. Taylor commenced operations in 1856. After a year the firm was changed to Taylor & Lakenan, and continued two years, when Mr. Taylor purchased Mr. Lakenan's interest and has continued the business ever since. In 1865 the foundry was destroyed by a fire supposed to be of incendiary origin, but was immediately rebuilt. Quartz mill machinery and general foundry work are made here, and an average of ten men are employed. This is one of Grass Valley's oldest institutions.

Grass Valley Foundry, J. M. Lakenan, proprietor, was built in spring of 1865 by the present owner, who went East and purchased the necessary tools and machinery. Mining machinery, water wheels and castings are made here, also pattern making and moulding. The gross annual product is about $40,000.

NEVADA TANNERY.

A building was erected near the County Hospital in 1863 by Kelsey & Butler for a large tannery. They had thirty-two vats and facilities for working 1200 hides annually. The product was sole and harness leather. The enterprise was conducted successfully for several years.

PACIFIC SOAP WORKS.

This was a small factory started in 1866 on Cayote street by J. B. Henry. It was not long conducted.

FISH.

The Truckee river and the mountain streams and lakes abound in fish, the Truckee trout having a celebrity that is wide spread. Since the opening up of this region by the railroad the shipping of fish has been quite an extensive business. In 1869 the Pioneer Fishery was established on the river above Truckee, and Stewart & Kelly started one at Donner lake in 1871, where they put in 22,000 small fish and commenced hatching thousands of eggs. In 1874 the Pioneer Fishery had 50,000 trout from one to five years of age. Besides the regular fisheries many whitemen and Indians catch fish in the natural streams. Independence and Webber lakes furnish the silver trout, a very high priced dainty. Great efforts have been made to protect the fish in spawning season, but not always with success. The Fish Commission has transported a large the western slope. During the intensely cold weather of December, 1879, the thermometer marked 38° below zero, and the mercury refused longer to perform its functions. This region has long been known as a cold one, and had the reputation, which experience has fully sustained, of being the coldest spot in the passage of the mountains, as many an old stage driver on the Henness Pass route to the Washoe mines will testify. Here then, with the minimum of snow and the maximum of cold, with plenty of clear and pure mountain water and with facilities for storage and railroad transportation to all points, has the ice business of the Pacific slope concentrated. There are now seven ice companies engaged in the business along the Truckee river and its tributaries. They are the Nevada Ice Co., the Summit Ice Co., the Boca Mill and Ice Co., all at Boca; the People's Ice Co. and J. Smith, at Bronco, the Mutual Ice Co. and the Crystal Ice Co. at Verdi. These companies have a storage capacity of 60,000 tons, an amount that is far in excess of the consumption of that portion of the coast to which ice can be profitably shipped. At least three times the quantity that can be consumed here is annually in store, some of it kept over from year to year. The unusual scantiness of the ice crop in the East this season opens a field that has heretofore been closed, and the probabilities are that the surplus stock of ice in store here can be shipped to the East and sold at such rates as to remunerate the ice owners. Such an opportunity will probably not occur again for a long time. The only competitor the mountain ice has is the artificial ice, manufactured chiefly in Sacramento. This lacks both the firmness and quality of the natural ice of the pure mountain streams, and is mainly used for packing purposes.

The first ice company to enter the Truckee basin was the Boca Mill and Ice Co., which began operations in 1868 at Boca, then a construction camp on the newly constructed line of the Central Pacific Railroad. They built a dam at a cost of $11,000, which flooded a pond of thirty acres, used to float logs into for their lumber business. In 1869 they built an ice house and filled it with ice from this pond, all in thirty days. The house had a capacity of 8,000 tons, and was 40x48 feet, and 17 feet high. The ice was cut by machinery and hoisted by a steam elevator.

The Nevada Ice Co., for several years previous to 1870, was engaged in the ice business at Blue Tent and Quaker Hill, being composed of business men of Nevada City. In 1870 they extent of $50,000. After expending an endeavor to construct buildings that would weight of snow that fell upon and crushed located on Prosser creek in 1873, about half that stream empties into the Truckee river. A dam 50x450 feet and 24 feet high was erected, and another of the same height and width and 300 feet long. The total capacity of the two is 16,000 tons. The storage capacity of any ice company on the Truckee river. The company has a dam across Prosser creek, which covers thirty-two acres. There are also boardwalks, a blacksmith shop, tool house, etc. During the winter the company employs from seventy-five men to one hundred. The ice houses have doors at every thirty feet sections from the floor to the roof, for conveying the ice into cars, standing on a track that leads to the Station. The method of cutting, handling and storing is very simple. The surface of the pond is covered with a floor of the ice house, and when the ice is cut it floats down to an opening through the dam, and drops through a grating into the creek, thence being conveyed to the floating of these cakes can be done so rapidly that the men will be kept busy stowing them in the houses.

In 1873, the Nevada Ice Co., Summit Ice Co. and Ice Co. combined as the Pacific Ice Co. They do now, their separate organizations, but they do business independently. This combination of ice property of the State, and enjoyed a monopoly of the trade. In 1873 an experiment was tried of a flume three miles in length. The result was that the thickness was reduced to three inches and the experiment was abandoned.

In 1875 the People's Ice Co. was organized, and they joined the combination, commencing operations in 1875. Besides the ice house there they built two more houses near Truckee, the total capacity of a dam at Bronco, where they built a dam, located, and erected ice houses.

The Crystal Ice Co. commenced operations in 1876. They have a dam across the Truckee river, covering 50 acres, a ditch one mile long, ice house 50x50 feet, and a capacity of 5,000 tons. The Mutual Ice

Before I get to Lindsey, I will mention two other items. Later in life, my mother tells me that a time or two when she was ill, my father would not change my diapers, and I would cry all day until my grandmother (Sitto Leon) came over to change me. The story was told to me to illustrate what a terrible father I had (naturally), but it does confirm for me the rather bleak darkness of spirit that I can vaguely remember. The actual feeling was strong--being alone and crying in darkness and feeling so alone in the universe. Maybe that's where the feeling came from.

The other is the response to "Blueberry Hill," a song popular in my childhood. When I hear the song, I picture the hill behind our house, telephone poles, and dune-sand-color, everything one beige color. The song itself always made me want to cry. The words do not really match the melody. The melody has intervals that are infinitely sad. Anyway, I don't know if it's just the song or if I heard it the first time while looking at the tawny hill near our house (we were practically in the foothills of the Sierra Nevada) or what. But the song touched me deeply.

I was named Mary Lou because a nurse at the hospital had that name. Unfortunately, a song of that same name was popular and I have been plagued all my life with that inane ditty.

Good Morning,

I wanted to share with you some of the information on the empty lot next to the stone house often referred to as the 'Hodge House' on Mill St.

In talking with the owner she had believed that the house was originally owned by Judge Walsh and he then sold it to the Hodge Family. With Covid going on I haven't been able to see if there were any legal documents at the county office to support this. However, I did find an interesting map online (<https://www.mynevadacounty.com/DocumentCenter/View/5909/Undated-Village-of-Grass-Valley-Nevada-County-PDF>) where it would allude to Walsh's Mill being on the property at this location as it is just after the bend of Wolf Creek and across from Echo Hill.

Additionally, I found an article which stated that the first business in Grass Valley was Walsh's Mill which was located next to the Foundary which is where the apartments are today. As you can see after the brewery burnt down the foundation wall which looks to be the same type of stones used in the stone house were covered up, but are still intact.

I think it would be good to make sure this history isn't lost and patched over, especially if this is the site of the first business in Grass Valley.

Thank You,

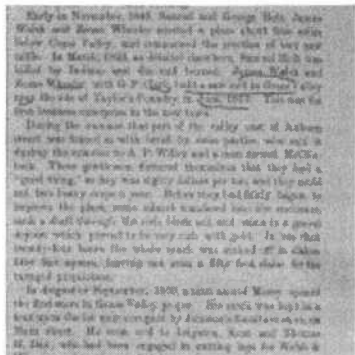

Jedidiah Watson

 SMITH & HODGE,

PROPRIETORS,

Lower Mill Street, Grass Valley.

 BREWERS OF PALE ALE.

Early in November, 1849, Samuel and George Holt, James Walsh and Zenas Wheeler selected a place about four miles below Grass Valley, and commenced the erection of two saw mills. In March, 1850, as detailed elsewhere, Samuel Holt was killed by Indians and the mill burned. James Walsh and Zenas Wheeler, with G. P. Clark, built a saw mill in Grass Valley near the site of Taylor's Foundry, in June, 1850. This was the first business enterprise in the new town.

During the summer that part of the valley east of Auburn street was fenced in with brush by some parties, who sold it during the summer to A. P. Willey and a man named McClintock. These gentlemen flattered themselves that they had a "good thing," as hay was eighty dollars per ton, and they could cut two heavy crops a year. Before they had fairly begun to improve the place, some miners wandered into the enclosure, sank a shaft through the rich, black soil, and came to a gravel deposit which proved to be very rich with gold. In less than twenty-four hours the whole ranch was staked off in claims fifty feet square, leaving not even a fifty foot claim for the ravaged proprietors.

In August or September, 1850, a man named Morey opened the first store in Grass Valley proper. His stock was kept in a tent upon the lot now occupied by Johnson's furniture store, on Main street. He soon sold to Leighton, Kent and Thomas H. Day, who had been engaged in cutting logs for Walsh & Wheeler, and took part of their stock.

About eleven o'clock on Wednesday night, September 13, 1855, a fire broke out in the United States Hotel, kept by Madam Bonhore, on lower Main street, and rapidly spread to the adjoining buildings. The hoarse cry of "fire!" roused the sleeping citizens from their beds, and they rushed upon the street to meet and combat the enemy. All was confusion; the flames were crackling and roaring, licking up the tinder dry buildings in their pathway, and all the undirected efforts of the excited people were futile to stay their onward march. Buildings were pulled down, buckets of water by the hundreds were thrown upon the burning houses, wet blankets and other devices were resorted to, but to no avail, for the frame buildings, dried in the long summer sun, burned too fiercely for the flames to be subdued. All night they fought with tireless energy, and never ceased the struggle until the flames expired for want of food to live upon. In that one dreadful night over three hundred buildings, occupying thirty acres of ground, were swept away. In the business portion of the town only two structures escaped destruction, one a stone store, recently erected by Sylvester & Co., and the other a block of three stores but just completed, on Mill street. The churches and Temperance Hall were saved, being just beyond the limits of

THE FIRST GOLD SEEKERS FOUND THEIR WAY TO THIS AREA BY WAY OF THE BEAR RIVER AND WOLF CREEK. ALONG WITH GOLD, THEY FOUND GRASSY VALLEYS AND ABUNDANT WATER AND TIMBER.

IN JANUARY 1848, JAMES MARSHALL DISCOVERED GOLD AT SUTTER'S MILL ON THE AMERICAN RIVER. SOON THE CALIFORNIA GOLD RUSH WAS IN FULL SWING.

IN 1850, THE DISCOVERY OF GOLD-BEARING QUARTZ IN GRASS VALLEY BEGAN THE ERA OF HARDROCK (UNDERGROUND) MINING IN CALIFORNIA AND ESTABLISHED GRASS VALLEY AS ONE OF THE RICHEST GOLD MINING REGIONS IN THE STATE.

LARGE MINES SUCH AS THE EMPIRE, NORTH STAR, PENNSYLVANIA, IDAHO-MARYLAND AND BRUNSWICK BECAME FAMOUS AROUND THE WORLD. HARDROCK MINING WAS DOMINANT IN GRASS VALLEY UNTIL IT WAS SUSPENDED DURING WW II. IT BEGAN AGAIN IN THE 1950'S, BUT ONLY FOR A SHORT TIME. THE GOVERNMENT'S CEILING ON THE PRICE OF GOLD AND THE MINERS' REFUSAL TO WORK FOR DEPRESSION ERA WAGES MADE MINING UNPROFITABLE AND THE LAST MINES CLOSED.

TODAY, GRASS VALLEY COMBINES THE RICH HERITAGE OF YESTERDAY AND THE BEST OF TODAY, OFFERING VISITORS AND HISTORY BUFFS AN INTERESTING GLIMPSE INTO THE PAST, A VARIETY OF POPULAR RECREATIONAL ACTIVITIES AND SUCH AMENITIES AS FINE LODGING, DINING AND SHOPPING.

The property consists of a modest, single-story or 1 1/2-story, wood-frame, Late Victorian style residence. Character defining features of the residence include its L-shaped massing (likely a later addition to the rear of the house), a moderately sloping gable roof clad with asphalt shingles, molding covering the eaves along with a plain frieze, 1 over 1 light wood-sash attic window, a full hipped roof front porch supported by turned wood Doric columns, a 1 over 1 light wood-sash window to the right of the front wood and lighted entry door (not period to the house), surrounded by side lights with panels at the base, and a divided wood-sash top light. A wooden staircase with turned balustrades leads from the porch to the front yard, and a lattic skirt covers the foundation in the front of the house. The rear addition appears to have v-groove exterior wood siding, rather than the larger shiplap used on the original house. The front yard is landscaped with a large redwood tree, shrubs, planting beds, and a concrete walkway. In 1872 the property was owned by George McClean (City of Grass Valley Historical Files).

Our tour begins at the historic Lola Montez House, home to the Grass Valley/Nevada County Chamber of Commerce. The tour can be enjoyed on foot, by bicycle or car. Walkers and cyclists should be in reasonably good shape and able to climb hills. Many of the buildings are private residences not open to the public. Please do not trespass or disturb the occupants.

1. LOLA MONTEZ HOUSE, 248 Mill Street. Local government began under an oak tree on this site in November 1850, when votes were collected in a cigar box and James Walsh was elected Justice of the Peace. A cabin was built here in 1851 and it was purchased in 1853 by international celebrity and performer Lola Montez. She resided here until 1855 when she returned to San Francisco. The present structure is a replica of Lola's original house (which had been extensively remodeled and finally was condemned in 1975). The structure houses the Grass Valley/Nevada County Chamber of Commerce, and a few artifacts from Lola's residency.

2. THE HODGE STONE HOUSE & BREWERY, 305 & 309 Mill Street. This structure has stone walls up to two feet thick, reflecting a bit of European architecture. It is a fine example of the mason's art. Built in 1861 by Thomas Hodge, the stone house was once accompanied by a brewery located where the adjacent apartment building now stands.

3. LOTTA CRABTREE HOUSE, 238 Mill Street. Lotta Crabtree was born in New York in 1847 and in the early 1850's came to Grass Valley where her parents operated a boardinghouse for gold miners. It was there that young Lotta met the famous Lola Montez who legend tells us taught her to sing and dance. Lotta entertained in mining camps and later graced the American stage until she retired at age forty four. She was the first American entertainer to become a millionaire, earning an estimated $3 million. The home of her youth has since been remodeled into apartments.

4. GRASS VALLEY PUBLIC LIBRARY, 207 Mill Street. The renowned teacher and philosopher Josiah Royce was born at this site in 1855. The library was built in 1916 with funding from the Carnegie Foundation.

5. WELLS FARGO BANK, 204 Mill Street. In the 1880's, this was the site of the Centennial Market. By the time of WW I, it was being used as a garage and Studebaker agency. Legend has it that owner A.B. Snyder was excavating for an underground gasoline tank when he came across a ledge of gold quartz. Several tons of quartz gold were removed and Snyder later sold the rights to the "Garage Vein" to the Golden Center Mining Co.

6. MINER'S HOTEL, 203 Mill Street. This three-story wooden building was built in 1896 as a hotel for single miners. During the 1940's, it was known as the Valley Hotel.

7. VAN'S OPERA HOUSE, 161 Mill Street. Now home to Hedman Furniture, this three-story stucco and stone building was built in 1890 by Pauline Van Hoeter. She sold it in 1894 to Charles Clinch of the Clinch Mercantile Co. For years, it was known as the Grass Valley Auditorium and many dramatic companies and musicians performed on its stage. Later, it became a movie theater known as The Strand.

8. UNION SQUARE BUILDING, 151 Mill Street. The Union newspaper was published here for 76 years before it moved to its present plant in the Glenbrook Basin in 1978. The Union was established in 1864 and named thusly because its publisher stood for the preservation of the Union during the Civil War.

9. BON ALLURE BUILDING, 139-143 Mill Street. Known for many years as the Thomas Building, this structure stands on a site occupied by the Railroad Hotel in the 1880's. The building was purchased in the 1930's by Arletta Douglas of Grass Valley, longtime proprietor of the Bon Allure clothing store.

10. NEVADA COUNTY BANK BUILDING, 131 Mill Street. This is perhaps the most impressive of all downtown buildings. Built in 1917 by the Rector Brothers, who operated a Nevada City banking firm, the building was acquired in the 1930's by Bank of America which operated here until 1975. The glass-domed structure was renovated in 1975 and now houses an insurance company.

11. THE OWL GRILL & SALOON, 134 Mill Street. The first wooden building on this site dates to the early 1850's but was destroyed by fire. Today's Owl Grill & Saloon is made up of two structures, built in 1857 and 1862. It became a saloon in 1883. The "Owl" is derived from the days when local gold mines ran 24 hours per day.

12. FOOTHILL MERCANTILE, 121 Mill Street. This is one of Mill Street's newer facilities, built in 1942 as a storage depot for the J. C. Penney store. It also was the location for Sprouse-Reitz variety store for many years.

13. BEITZ/HARTUNG BUILDING, 124 Mill Street. This building has housed a jewelry store for more than a century. Watchmaker and engraver Henry Hartung, the son of German immigrants, began the tradition which was carried on by the Beitz family who operated Beitz Jewelers for forty years.

14. MILL STREET CLOTHING/DOVETAIL DESIGN, 150-117 Mill Street. This site was once occupied by the Empire Livery Stable and it was here that

NORTH STAR POWERHOUSE AND PELTON WHEEL MINING EXHIBIT. Located at the end of Mill Street, near McCourtney and Allison Ranch Roads, this museum is a designated historic landmark. It houses a large exhibition of mining equipment and artifacts from the 1880's. Included in this display is a Cornish pump, a stamp mill and the world's largest Pelton Wheel (30 feet) built in 1895 by A.D. Foote. GOLD QUARTZ DISCOVERY MARKER. Located on Jenkins Street (Via Brighton and Cornwall), this marker commemorates the discovery of gold-bearing quartz. The legend goes back to 1850 when a cow, owned by George McKnight, strayed off across a meadow. In a rush to retrieve his fleeing animal, McKnight stubbed his toe on a protruding rock. Looking closer, he saw gold embedded in the quartz and thus hardrock mining came into existence in this area. This is the location of the Gold Hill Mine that is credited with producing $4 million in gold from 1850 to 1857.

LYMAN GILMORE SCHOOL. The school occupies the site of the first commercial air field in the United States, which opened March 15, 1907. PIONEER GOES TO MEET MAKER

Thomas Hodge Lies Dead at His Old Home on Mill Street.

He Had Resided in This City for the Past Fifty-five Years.

Pioneer Thomas Hodge lies dead at his home on Mill street, in the cottage which had been his home for forty-three years. He passed away at 9:59 o'clock Sunday evening, after a long and hopeless illness. The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Congregational church under the auspices of Wiener Tribe of Red Men. Interment will be made in the Red Men's cemetery.

Decedent was a native of Goldthney, England, aged sixty-nine years and eighteen days. He came to Grass Valley at the age of fourteen and engaged with others in mining on Deer creek. After a few years of that life he accumulated considerable money, returned to his native land and induced his father and several other relatives to accompany him back to the new Eldorado. He continued to mine in this section for a few years, but deserted that life to engage in the brewery business. In this he prospered wonderfully, conducting what is now known as the City brewery. From four to six large wagons made regular trips to every mining camp within a radius of thirty miles or more. Later unfortunate speculations proved disastrous. Something like twelve years ago he disposed of his brewery business and retired to a quiet life, though hitherto he had taken a deep interest in all that pertained to city government. He was a man who easily made friends, and to his credit he it said he retained them all to the last. Manifestations of sorrow were heard on all sides when it became known that "Tom" Hodge had breathed his last.

By his death a widow and six children are left. They are Mrs. John Martin, Mrs. T. J. Kelsner, Richard Hodge, Mrs. Sarah Ahearn, Samuel Hodge, Mrs. Hitchcock, Alex, John and Miss Lizzie Hodge.

VISITS BOYHOOD SCENES.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Smith have arrived from Oakland to make a short visit at the boyhood home of the latter. It was about thirty years ago that Mr. Smith left here. His parents were pioneer residents, his father being a member of the brewery firm of Hodge & Smith on Mill street. The brewery is still in business, but has changed and enlarged much in later years. It is now known as the City brewery. Mr. Smith is cashier for the Oakland department of the gas and electric corporation which is owned by John Martin, E. S. de Sabla and others.

AND MYSTERY DEEPENS

James Cregan is very much alive, but the identity of the dead body which was mistaken for that of Cregan is still a mystery.

After positively identifying the dead man Thursday evening, Thomas Hodge made a trip out to the old man's cabin yesterday morning to see if anything had been disturbed, having known him for forty years. To his astonishment he found Cregan about the place hale and hearty. When informed that he was supposed to be dead and in a casket awaiting burial, the old miner was greatly amused.

Hodge hurried back to town and informed Undertaker Harris that a mistake had been made. He stated that he had never seen features more alike, and until he came face to face with Cregan was still certain that the latter was dead.

Now the mystery is deeper than ever. All day yesterday vigorous inquiry was made to ascertain, if possible, the identity of the dead man, but without success. From all the surrounding country comes the report that nobody is missing, and conjecture is rife as to who the man was and whence he came.

The remains will be interred this morning in the potter's field, unless claimed before, the funeral taking place from Harris' undertaking parlors at 10 o'clock.

Daniel P. Holbrooke purchased the building in 1870 and renamed it. Restored to its original splendor, the Holbrooke is owned by local business people.

38. MAIN STREET RESTAURANT & ANNEX, 213-215 West Main Street. A book store and telegraph office operated here in the 1850's and it was a pool hall for many years before becoming a restaurant. The annex includes what was known as the Van Hoerter building, built by Joseph and Pauline Van Hoerter. Pauline had worked for John Sutter in Sacramento as a seamstress. In Grass Valley, she operated a soap factory, was involved in various real estate and mining enterprises and built Van's Opera House (at the site of Hedman's Furniture on Mill Street).

39. TOFANELLI'S RESTAURANT, 302 West Main Street. This one-story brick structure was built by local attorneys Alfred Dibble and James Byrne. It later became a hardware store, a market and print shop. Gino Tofanelli leased it during the 1940's and did business for two decades as Tofanelli's Market. It became a restaurant in 1977.

40. FREEMAN'S BAKERY, 302A West Main Street. Eli Freeman, a baker from Iowa, came to Grass Valley in the 1870's. He and his nephew, William, operated a bakery here for several decades. The shop later housed the Three R's Bookstore for 25 years.

41. BRET HARTE INN, 305 West Main Street. The City Hotel stood here in the 1850's but it burned down June 11, 1862 and was rebuilt. In the 1870's, it was known as The Cabinet, operated by the Temby brothers, Cornish wrestlers. The Bret Harte, named for the famous author, was built in 1917 and was a rival to the Holbrooke. Extensively remodeled in the 1980's, it is now a senior citizen retirement home.

42. THE COLEMAN HOUSE, 318 Neal Street. The house was built in the mid-1860's by Edward Coleman, owner of the North Star and Idaho mines as well as the Mohawk Lumber Co. He was also treasurer of the Nevada County Narrow Gauge Railroad. In 1982 Mark Murphy established and operated the residence as a bed and breakfast inn and left the exterior unchanged from the original. It is currently a private residence.

43. GEORGE HILL RESIDENCE, 319 Neal Street. Hill came to Grass Valley in 1858. He was a miner, farmer and dairyman whose first house was in the Hills Flat area, which is named after him. The Neal Street house is where Caroline Hanson lived when she originated Grass Valley's Donation Day in 1883.

44. FRANK J. BEATTY RESIDENCE, 403 Neal Street. This house was built in the 1890's by Charles Clinch and is also known as the Ridge-Tremoureaux house. Beatty came to Grass Valley in 1862, worked in mining, merchandising and banking. He married Alice B. Ridge, daughter of local newspaper editor John Rollin Ridge. Alice's grandmother, Elizabeth Ridge, planted the famed sugar maple in the front yard in 1876; she brought this west from the battlefields of Gettysburg, Pennsylvania.

45. EMMANUEL EPISCOPAL CHURCH, 245 South Church Street. Built on land donated by the Gold Hill Mining Co. in 1858, this is the oldest Episcopal church in the Northern Mines region.

46. WILLIAM CAMPBELL RESIDENCE, 328 South Church Street. One of Grass Valley's earliest settlers, Campbell operated a bakery and grocery. He became one of the wealthiest citizens of the county and was widely traveled. He built a beautiful home on Church Street which later became the Jones Hospital which operated from 1907 into the 1960's. It is now a bed and breakfast inn known as the Swan-Levine house.

47. ST. JOSEPH'S CULTURAL CENTER. The building, site of the former Mt. St. Mary's Convent for the Sisters of Mercy, was completed in 1866. As soon as it opened it also served as an orphanage, and later a private school. The building was granted State Historic Landmark Status after it had achieved non-profit status in 1972. Currently the building and the adjacent St. Joseph's Hall serve as a cultural center with the Grass Valley Museum and thirteen artist studios as its centerpiece. St. Patrick's Cemetery across the street is one of the area's oldest, dating to 1853.

Other Points of Interest

NORTH STAR POWERHOUSE AND PELTON WHEEL MINING EXHIBIT. Located at the end of Mill Street, near McCourtney and Allison Ranch Roads, this museum is a designated historic landmark. It houses a large exhibition of mining equipment and artifacts from the 1880's. Included in this display is a Cornish pump, a stamp mill and the world's largest Pelton Wheel (30 feet) built in 1895 by A.D. Foote. The museum is open to the public May 1- October 15; donations are accepted.

GOLD QUARTZ DISCOVERY MARKER. Located on Jenkins Street (Via Brighton and Cornwall), this marker commemorates the discovery of gold-bearing quartz. The legend goes back to 1850 when a cow, owned by George McKnight, strayed off across a meadow. In a rush to retrieve his fleeing animal, McKnight stubbed his toe on a protruding rock. Looking closer, he saw gold embedded in the quartz and thus hardrock mining came into existence in this area. This is the location of the Gold Hill Mine that is credited with producing $4 million in gold from 1850 to 1857.

LYMAN GILMORE SCHOOL. The school occupies the site of the first commercial air field in the United States, which opened March 15, 1907. A school wall features a large mural of California's first aviator, Lyman Gilmore, who claimed to have flown before the Wright Brothers. Gilmore, who was known locally for his colorful character, died in 1951 at 74.

EMPIRE MINE STATE HISTORIC PARK. Item # 4. The 100-acre state park is located off East Empire Street about half miles from the downtown area. The Empire Mine was one of the oldest, largest, and richest mines in California. During 107 years of operation, it produced more than $960 million in gold (based on 1974 gold market prices). The surface of the mine with its mansion, formal gardens, mining artifacts and trail systems, make the park a renowned historical and recreational showplace. Self-guided and docent tours are available.

Other Nearby Points of Interest

NEVADA CITY. Located four miles to the northeast, the Queen City of the Northern Mines tastefully preserves its colorful gold mining and Victorian era history. Sightseers and photographers are entranced by spring flowers and spectacular fall colors amid the city's beautiful old homes and white church steeples. The entire downtown area, illuminated by gas lamps, is listed on the National Register of Historic Places. Museums, interesting shops, restaurants, and wineries are among the attractions.

ROUGH & READY. Located a few miles west of Grass Valley via Rough & Ready Highway, this tiny village was settled by the Rough & Ready Mining Co. whose leader, Captain Townsend, named it after President Zachary Taylor "Old Rough & Ready." This community once made history by seceding from the Union for a brief period and still holds an annual Secession Day celebration.

BRIDGEPORT COVERED BRIDGE. Located on the South Yuba River near Penn Valley, this 229-foot long span was built by David I. Wood in 1862. During the Gold Rush, countless Wells Fargo stagecoaches crossed this bridge enroute to the various northern mines.

MALAKOFF DIGGINS STATE HISTORIC PARK. Located a half-hour's drive northeast of Nevada City, the park includes what was once the largest hydraulic gold mine in the world along with the restored mining town of North Bloomfield.

Grass Valley Parks

VETERANS MEMORIAL PARK. Located at Colfax Avenue and Race Street, Memorial Park is situated on a parcel of land presented to the City of Grass Valley in memory of those who served in the war. The park has excellent picnic facilities, playground, softball field, tennis courts and swimming pool.

CONDON PARK. Located off Butler Road or Brighton Street, Condon Park includes 180 acres of forestland and playing fields. The property was willed to the city for recreational uses by Miss Lulu Condon, a dynamic citizen of the mining era. The park has a meeting hall, excellent barbecue and picnic facilities, playground, two baseball and softball fields, a disc golf course, skateboard park and a trail system.

Charles Clinch and W.D. Bourn Jr. formed the Clinch Mercantile Co. This was Grass Valley's J.C. Penney store from 1928 until 1989.

15. ODD FELLOWS HALL AND GRASS VALLEY HARDWARE, 112-116 Mill Street. Built in 1855, the hall in this three-building complex was first known as Parker's Hall, named after builder and merchant John Parker. One of the buildings housed Grass Valley Hardware Co. for more than a century, until the company closed in 1989. The Union newspaper began on the second floor of the Grass Valley Hardware building in 1864. The third building served as a bakery, grocery and dry goods outlet. Today, the buildings house various shops.

16. WILD PLUM BUILDING, 111-113 Mill Street. An 1891 map shows this as a furniture store. A photo from the 1920's shows it as Gill Miller, Undertaker. Safeway operated here in the 1930's and a Ben Franklin variety store was here in the 1940's and 1950's. Collier's Shoe Store opened here in the mid 1950's and closed in March, 2004.

17. OLD TOWN CAFE, 110 Mill Street. This is the original site of the Nevada County Bank which opened in 1900 and moved in 1917 to the bank building at Mill and Bank Streets.

18. ADAMS EXPRESS AND STAGE CO. BUILDING, 102 Mill Street. Completed in 1854 at a cost of $10,000, this was the first brick structure in Grass Valley. The building was used for grocery and clothing sales until the 1870's when it became home to The Union newspaper which later built a plant at 151 Mill Street.

19. HARDCRABBLE BUILDING, 107 West Main Street. Built in the late 1850's, this was the home of Harris and Saxon, furniture dealers. William Harris later became partners with John Farrell in a clothing business and the two were instrumental in forming Grass Valley's famous Cornish Choir.

20. PACIFIC HOTEL, Corner of South Auburn and West Main Streets. One of Grass Valley's earliest hotels, built in 1850 and destroyed by fire in 1855 and 1860, it was rebuilt each time. The hotel was demolished in 1931 to make way for a Standard Oil Co. gas station. A small brick building stands at the corner today.

21. WISCONSIN HOTEL, Corner of South Auburn and East Main Streets. Today a city parking lot, this site housed a hotel twice destroyed by fire and rebuilt. In the 1930's, the Richfield Oil Co. razed the old hotel and installed a gas station. In the 1880's, John Glasson operated a gas plant adjacent to the hotel, supplying the city with light and the Maryland Mine with power. The plant was sold in 1896 to the Nevada County Electrical Power Co.

22. THE OLD POST OFFICE, 131 South Auburn Street. Dr. Will Jones erected his residence here in 1874 and sold the site to the U.S. Government in 1913. Construction of the federal building, as it was then known, began in 1914. The post office opened in 1916 and operated until 1981 when a new post office was built on Bennett Street. The building now houses professional offices.

The Holbrooke Hotel, circa 1930s

23. SALVATION ARMY CITADEL, 134 South Auburn Street. The Salvation Army first came to Grass Valley in 1887 as a Temperance Movement swept the nation. A wooden building to house the corps was built in 1887 and the present structure was completed in 1923. The building has been remodeled but the exterior remains as it was in the early 1920's.

24. THE STEWART HOUSE, 124 Bank Street. This attractive two-story Victorian was built in the 1880's by Henry John Stewart, a Canadian lumberman who owned a mill on Wolf Creek. The building was extensively restored and remodeled in 1991 and is now a restaurant.

25. CHINATOWN, Directly across from The Stewart House. This area, where a new hotel was planned, was once Grass Valley's Chinatown, second only to San Francisco's. More than 1,000 Chinese lived here in the 1870's. There were stores, gardens, opium and gambling parlors and "houses of joy." The area, nearly destroyed by fire in 1877, was razed in 1938.

26. MAYBELLE FOSTER HOUSE, 114 Stewart Street. Known as "The Miner's Friend", Maybelle Foster operated a bordello here in the 1920's and 1930's. Before that, the site served as the Cornish Wrestling Ring where for several decades Cornish miners and Cousin Jacks held their annual games.

27. THE NEVADA ROOMS, Second floor, 124 East Main Street. A brothel of some importance in the decades when prostitution flourished.

28. THE GOLDEN GATE ROOMS, Second floor, 122 East Main Street. Grass Valley's most famous brothel. Operated by the flamboyant Texas Tommy in the 1930's and 1940's.

29. THE WASHINGTON BREWERY, 114-116 East Main Street. Built by John Frank and David Binkelman in 1858, according to E Clampus Vitus; or in 1862, according to other sources. Binkelman had begun the Grass Valley Brewery in 1856 on North Auburn Street. The brewery was closed by Prohibition and later reopened as the Washington Tavern.

30. THE EMPIRE ROOMS, Second floor, 110 East Main Street. Another house of ill repute, operated during the 1930's by Jo May. From 1949 to 1958 the rooms became the Bartenders and Culinary Workers Union Hall.

31. FOOTHILL FLOWERS, 102 West Main Street. Located on the site of the original Loutzenheiser Pharmacy, this impressive brick structure was purchased by Marie Johnson in 1966 and is home to Foothill Flowers. The brick structure dates to the 1850's and remained in the Loutzenheiser family until 1928.

32. WILLIAMS STATIONERY, 112 West Main Street. Grass Valley's second oldest building was erected in 1854-55 as a mercantile and grocery business. It was known as Jenkins Variety Store for 47 years until 1949 when Floyd and Elton Williams purchased the business. Elton and Helen Williams bought the building and business in 1971.

33. MONTEZ THEATER, 116 West Main Street. Named for Lola Montez, this theater operated in 1930's and 1940's. From 1880 to 1900, this location was the site of Watt & Co., a general merchandise and grocery. Today, the building has been remodeled to become the Main Street Mall.

34. ALPHA HARDWARE, 204 West Main Street. This is the original 1870's site of Peter Purcell's Fashion Livery Stable and later served for decades as the home of the Alpha Hardware Co. The thick rock walls seen from the Holbrooke Hotel parking lot were built from local mine rock.

35. BEATTY HOUSE-QUICK BUILDING, 205-209 West Main Street. Built in late 1850 by Thomas and Zacheus Beatty, this wooden frame boardinghouse was destroyed in the fire of 1855 and rebuilt soon after. 36. HOTEL DE FRANCE, 206 West Main Street. Now home to the Canton Valley Chinese Restaurant, this site dates to 1852 and the opening of the Adams Express and Stage Co. A hotel was built following the 1855 fire and it was later renamed the Golden Gate Hotel. The hotel operated until 1905 when it was converted to a bank branch by Citizens Bank of Nevada City. The building was demolished in 1965 to make way for a Sears store.

37. THE HOLBROOKE HOTEL, 212 West Main Street. This is one of Grass Valley's most recognized landmarks. The Golden Gate Saloon was established on this site in 1851 and was rebuilt with stone and brick after the fire of 1855 and became known as the Exchange Hotel.

ur tour begins at the historic Lola Montez House, home to the Grass Valley/Nevada County Chamber of Commerce. The tour can be enjoyed on foot, by bicycle or car. Walkers and cyclists should be in reasonably good shape and able to climb hills. Many of the buildings are private residences not open to the public. Please do not trespass or disturb the occupants.

1. LOLA MONTEZ HOUSE, 248 Mill Street. Local government began under an oak tree on this site in November 1850, when votes were collected in a cigar box and James Walsh was elected Justice of the Peace. A cabin was built here in 1851 and it was purchased in 1853 by international celebrity and performer Lola Montez. She resided here until 1855 when she returned to San Francisco. The present structure is a replica of Lola's original house (which had been extensively remodeled and finally was condemned in 1975). The structure houses the Grass Valley/Nevada County Chamber of Commerce, and a few artifacts from Lola's residency.

2. THE HODGE STONE HOUSE & BREWERY, 305 & 309 Mill Street. This structure has stone walls up to two feet thick, reflecting a bit of European architecture. It is a fine example of the mason's art. Built in 1861 by Thomas Hodge, the stone house was once accompanied by a brewery located where the adjacent apartment building now stands.

3. LOTTA CRABTREE HOUSE, 238 Mill Street. Lotta Crabtree was born in New York in 1847 and in the early 1850's came to Grass Valley where her parents operated a boardinghouse for gold miners. It was there that young Lotta met the famous Lola Montez who legend tells us taught her to sing and dance. Lotta entertained in mining camps and later graced the American stage until she retired at age forty four. She was the first American entertainer to become a millionaire, earning an estimated $3 million. The home of her youth has since been remodeled into apartments.

4. GRASS VALLEY PUBLIC LIBRARY, 207 Mill Street. The renowned teacher and philosopher Josiah Royce was born at this site in 1855. The library was built in 1916 with funding from the Carnegie Foundation.

5. WELLS FARGO BANK, 204 Mill Street. In the 1880's, this was the site of the Centennial Market. By the time of WW I, it was being used as a garage and Studebaker agency. Legend has it that owner A.B. Snyder was excavating for an underground gasoline tank when he came across a ledge of gold quartz. Several tons of quartz gold were removed and Snyder later sold the rights to the "Garage Vein" to the Golden Center Mining Co.

6. MINER'S HOTEL, 203 Mill Street. This three-story wooden building was built in 1896 as a hotel for single miners. During the 1940's, it was known as the Valley Hotel.

7. VAN'S OPERA HOUSE, 161 Mill Street. Now home to Hedman Furniture, this three-story stucco and stone building was built in 1890 by Pauline Van Hoeter. She sold it in 1894 to Charles Clinch of the Clinch Mercantile Co. For years, it was known as the Grass Valley Auditorium and many dramatic companies and musicians performed on its stage. Later, it became a movie theater known as The Strand.

8. UNION SQUARE BUILDING, 151 Mill Street. The Union newspaper was published here for 76 years before it moved to its present plant in the Glenbrook Basin in 1978. The Union was established in 1864 and named thusly because its publisher stood for the preservation of the Union during the Civil War.

9. BON ALLURE BUILDING, 139-143 Mill Street. Known for many years as the Thomas Building, this structure stands on a site occupied by the Railroad Hotel in the 1880's. The building was purchased in the 1930's by Arletta Douglas of Grass Valley, longtime proprietor of the Bon Allure clothing store.

10. NEVADA COUNTY BANK BUILDING, 131 Mill Street. This is perhaps the most impressive of all downtown buildings. Built in 1917 by the Rector Brothers, who operated a Nevada City banking firm, the building was acquired in the 1930's by Bank of America which operated here until 1975. The glass-domed structure was renovated in 1975 and now houses an insurance company.

11. THE OWL GRILL & SALOON, 134 Mill Street. The first wooden building on this site dates to the early 1850's but was destroyed by fire. Today's Owl Grill & Saloon is made up of two structures, built in 1857 and 1862. It became a saloon in 1883. The "Owl" is derived from the days when local gold mines ran 24 hours per day.

12. FOOTHILL MERCANTILE, 121 Mill Street. This is one of Mill Street's newer facilities, built in 1942 as a storage depot for the J. C. Penney store. It also was the location for Sprouse-Reitz variety store for many years.

13. BEITZ/HARTUNG BUILDING, 124 Mill Street. This building has housed a jewelry store for more than a century. Watchmaker and engraver Henry Hartung, the son of German immigrants, began the tradition which was carried on by the Beitz family who operated Beitz Jewelers for forty years.

14. MILL STREET CLOTHING/DOVETAIL DESIGN, 150-117 Mill Street. This site was once occupied by the Empire Livery Stable and it was here that

A wooden staircase with turned balustrades leads from the porch to the front yard, and a latic skirt covers the foundation in the front of the house. The rear addition appears to have v-groove exterior wood siding, rather than the larger shiplap used on the original house. The front yard is landscaped with a large redwood tree, shrubs, planting beds, and a concrete walkway. In 1872 the property was owned by George McClean (City of Grass Valley Historical Files).

About eleven o'clock on Wednesday night, September 13, 1855, a fire broke out in the United States Hotel, kept by Madam Bonhore, on lower Main street, and rapidly spread to the adjoining buildings. The hoarse cry of "fire!" roused the sleeping citizens from their beds, and they rushed upon the street to meet and combat the enemy. All was confusion; the flames were crackling and roaring, licking up the tinder dry buildings in their pathway, and all the undirected efforts of the excited people were futile to stay their onward march. Buildings were pulled down, buckets of water by the hundreds were thrown upon the burning houses, wet blankets and other devices were resorted to, but to no avail, for the frame buildings, dried in the long summer sun, burned too fiercely for the flames to be subdued.
