2. Staff Report

Town Planner Thomas Britt gave a report on the application to the Council. Mr. Britt shared that the Special Use Permit application before the Council was for a drive thru expansion at Chick Fil-a located at 15180 Washington Street. He provided a history on the existing drive thru was approved by Special Use in 2015. He shared that the goal of the application before the Council is to add a bypass lane to the existing drive thru. He shared that currently there are two order lanes that narrow down to one pick up lane. He stated that the bypass lane would continue from the order lane pass the pick up window. He shared that this concept would facilitate faster delivery of products for the customer with a long term goal of this lane being dedicated to the mobile thru concept from Chick Fil-a. Mr. Britt stated that the proposed expansion of the lane would require the landscaping buffer that currently exist would be removed and would be replaced with delineators that would separate their property and the Virginia National Bank property. He continued to state that the parking and drive thru area at the bank would be reduced and would incorporate a one way counter clockwise flow of traffic both when entering and exiting the property. Mr. Britt also shared that the improvement would use the entry point at the north side end of the Chick Fil-a property would be reduced to exit point only. Mr. Britt shared that the removed landscaping would be planted in other areas of the property. He referred to 58-4.28 of the Town's Zoning Ordinance which relates to traffic, noise, light, hours of operation, and number of employees involved. He shared that the applicant provided a traffic impact analysis along with the other items addressed in the referenced zoning. Mr. Britt stated with the landscaping removed and the alterations to the bank parking lot, there would be potential hardship and safety issues involved with the bank parking lot and drive thru area even with wayfinding signs. He continued to state that this area would not be pedestrian friendly, as the Town prides in being a pedestrian friendly town. Mr. Britt also addressed the entry point for truck delivery to the site. Mr. Britt shared that the Planning Commission held a public hearing in July with a vote in September with a recommendation to deny the SUP based on the negative affect on the site and surrounding area with increase in traffic, increase in potential safety hazards to pedestrians and employees, decrease in driver access to the site and surrounding businesses and negative affects to the adjacent businesses. Lastly, Mr. Britt read into the record an email from Town Manager/Zoning Administrator Emily Kyriazi to Chick Fil-a stating that she supports the recommendation of denial. At this time, Mr. Britt introduced the representatives of the applicant and invited them to the podium to provide any additional information.

3. Report from Applicant

Kristina Hughes, the civil engineer from Bohler Engineering, started the applicant report on the Special Use Permit. She shared that the proposal is continue the second lane for a bypass to increase efficiency. She stated that there is no other impact to the building and no increase in traffic based off of studies. She shared that even though there will be some adjustments to the bank parking lot, Chick Fil-a is being proactive in making some adjustments to the site. She also shared that the team feels that the application reduces three potential conflict points with traffic. She stated that the bank traffic would be one way going counter clockwise around the building which would be opposite of the Chick Fil-a traffic, the entry point to the north would be an exit point only so that no traffic would back up to any shared sites, and Chick Fil-a is working with the landlord to place several wayfinding signs on the site to help clear up the traffic concerns especially those on Washington Street. She introduced Les Adkins, the traffic engineer from Galloway and Company, to address the traffic concerns associated with the application. Mr Adkins shared that they based their assessments off of a data set that Chick Fil-a maintains across the country but specifically in this region of different store types, sizes, and drive thru alignments. He stated that based on those studies, in his opinion, the addition of the bypass lane would not increase trip generation. He stated that he would anticipate that this would help serve the existing customer base and improve efficiency for the future.

Don Wooden, Meladon Group and the owner of the Crossroads Village Center, was next to address the Town Council. He shared that the company takes great pride in working with all the tenants. He shared that he has been working with both Chick Fil-a and Virginia National Bank to make sure that there would be minimal impact on the daily operations of the businesses. He shared also shared that the group was prepared to present 3 different options for the Council to consider. He stated that any of the options work for both businesses. Ms. Hughes distributed the plans to the Town Council. The Town Council asked Town Planner Britt if he has seen the iterations. He replied that he has not seen the options before this evening's meeting. He shared that the team tried to address staff concerns in the options provided. He shared that the group met with staff looking at wayfinding, the barrier between Chick Fil-a and the bank parcel, and different angles of parking. Mr. Wooden stated that in discussion with Virginia National Bank, they would prefer the option with the one way traffic but not changing the parking or the sidewalks. There were questions from the Town Council to both Mr. Wooden regarding correspondence with Virginia National Bank and Mr. Adkins if a traffic analysis was done. He stated that there was not a traffic analysis just a trip generation study. There was also a question on how many cars can fit in the queuing lane. There was also a question on the barrier between the two parcels. The next speaker on the applicant was Chad Baker, from Chick Fil-a headquarters, who answered questions from the Town Council on the choke point when the two lanes goes back down to one lane before exiting the property. He stated that the employees would monitor the choke point and directing the traffic accordingly. Lastly, Jason Ward, owner of the Haymarket and Gainesville Chick Fil-a franchise, came to the podium to answer any questions from the Town Council on the application. He shared that he is very passionate about how he runs his business and how he takes care of his staff. Mr. Ward asked that the Town Council to give them the opportunity with this change to take care of more customers , to impact more customers, to serve the better and to be more efficient. He stated he would like the opportunity to grow his business for the community. The Town Council continued to ask questions to the team on traffic, improving efficiency and the possibility of increasing traffic, looking at ways to prepare for large orders so that it won't impact traffic flow. Mr. Baker stated that the drive thru channel is affecting how the dine in channel is working. He stated that the goal is to build capacity into the drive thru beyond the order points. There was a question to the Town Planner if he had seen the other options that was brought forth at the evening's meeting. Town Planner Britt stated although there was a discussion about the options, nothing concrete was presented to him. There was also a discussion on the safety of the employees and what steps are being taken to ensure that the employees that are walking between the cars remain safe. Ms. Hughes from Bohler and Mr. Ward answered the question.
