Although I am unable to come to the meeting tonight due to lack of child care, I wanted to send an email so at least I could let someone know how hard it's been.

I have no idea who will read this email or if anyone will. But here it goes.

My family and I moved here a little under 2 years ago. Although I was born and raised in Athena, Oregon, I have traveled a lot and lived many places around the US. Traveled to many countries.

Hermiston is the first town that I fear walking down the street in my neighborhood. I am a homeowner and for the most part my neighbors are lovely people. However, just on my street there are four dogs that are allowed to run at large all too often. Being new here, I wasn't sure who to talk to about the situation, I was informed by a member of the community that I should reach out to the police.

I have made three separate calls for dogs chasing, attempting to bite me and my child, as well as coming into my own garage and trying to attack my husband..... I have yet to see any consequence for these pet owners.

This is a quote from one of my neighbors " The cops are always bringing my dogs back but at least I never get fined." Why is that?

Irresponsible pet owners & lack of consequences for dogs at large have made it so that I no longer can walk in my neighborhood. The fear is so great that I have to load up my son and my own dog and travel to a safer area just to be able to walk.

There was another incident that I experienced where a dog actually jumped its own fence to attack us, who did I call for help?? Nobody.

This was after i had already called three times and at that point I'm just a nuisance because I know there will be nothing done. There will be no help for me.

When will something be done? When my dog is killed? When my child is attacked? When my child is killed? Is that what it's going to take for somebody to PAY ATTENTION?

I'm not pointing the fingers at anyone but the irresponsible pet owners that allow this to happen. But I do believe that their actions should have a consequence! Last time I checked "dogs at large" was fineable. So why don't they proceed with that.? Why are the dogs safely taken back to their owners with no repercussions? Why are leash laws not enforced?

Although this email will probably fall on deaf ears and nothing will come of it, I feel as it is my only option at this point. The police force has many other jobs and taking care of all animal calls, shouldn't be part of it. They have a hard job, pesky animal calls only make it harder for them.

My PLEA is that there would be harsher consequences for repeat offenders for dogs at large. Possibly an animal control officer as well. I want to be safe in my own neighborhood!

If you've read this email in it's entirety, I thank you.

Best regards,
Lydia Tefft- A very defeated mother & pet owner

Exploring the Rich History of Hermiston

A traveler pauses near Hermiston in 1910.

The Hermiston area began to see irrigated agriculture in 1908, with the completion of the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation's Umatilla Basin Project in the form of Cold Springs Reservoir. The region would see modest growth until World War II, when the Umatilla Army Depot was constructed. more
