COUNCIL CONSIDERATION OF AGENDA ITEMS:

Housing Study Proposal

A few months ago, the City Council discussed conducting a housing study to pinpoint housing needs in Lansing and help guide the City on how to achieve the housing objectives. The City received two proposals to conduct the housing study, one from RDG and the other from Thomas P. Miller & Associates. RDG's proposal was $30,000, and Thomas P. Miller & Associates proposal was $79,500.

Councilmember Kirby made a motion to approve the proposal from RDG to conduct a housing study, for an amount not to exceed $30,000 and authorize the necessary signatures.

Councilmember Studnicka seconded the motion. Discussion commenced between the Council, City Administrator, Mayor, and City Attorney elaborating on the difference between the Comprehensive Plan that is overarching and contains information pertinent to a wide array of future plans for the city versus the proposed housing study that would clarify the specific housing needs of our city. The City Administrator acknowledged that while the cost is a factor, the study allows for the possible use of state or federal programs like the Rural Housing Incentive District program and could affect zoning recommendations. He also stated that the study could be incorporated in the Comprehensive Plan or used to recommend zoning changes to fit the needs of the city. The City Attorney stated that if the council is going to restrict or expand any of the things that will affect the development world outside of our current code, legally they would need a housing study to reduce the risk of litigation. Roll Call Vote: Aye: Councilmembers Majure, Buehler, Clemons, Brungardt, Studnicka, Trinkle, and Kirby. Nay: Garvey; Abstain: none; Absent: none. The motion was approved.
