General Discussion

3. Budget Update
   Jasmine Jackson provided an update, reporting a remaining balance of $158,082.63. She also noted that the unconventional spaces project that painted the dumpster along the LAC, totaling approximately $1,500, is expected to be completed within the week. Arts Commission seeded $5000 to Create Gwinnett for grant opportunities with other cities as well. No additional changes within the subcategories budgets at this time.
4. Lawrenceville Blooms Mural

From the recent discussion with artist, Teresa, the request was made to see if Streets & Sanitation could paint the anti-graffiti sealant upon Teresa refinishing the mural; within those parameters Teresa was given the task to give an itemized invoice to justify the additional cost she's requesting.

Alice, who has a background in murals, noted that Teresa isn't communicating effectively which is causing a constant back and forth. Commissioners would like for Teresa to complete the painting only and have asked if the Lawrenceville Streets and Sanitation can roll the anti-graffiti paint, with paint purchased via the Commission. Commissioners are approving her invoice for only 10 gallons of paint for $2k, commissioners are proposing to buy the paint and allowing her to use because they want to oversee type of paint for usage. Also suggested to give deadline on her purchasing items for July. Jasmine will reach out to give final review of list of paint colors, pricing, type, etc. from Sherwin Williams specifically. Deadline is two weeks from today.

Alicia asked, "how long does a mural usually last?' Alice gave the answer of at least 12 years. Think about your home and how many times you have to paint. If it doesn't work out, commission will move on from the project and artist.

5. Permanent Art

Hulanei met with Lawrenceville facilities and engineering directors 9 by 23 ft concrete slab makes sense for the permanent DTL lettering to be at The Lawn. An additional 20-foot slab with be placed near Hyro Park that could be an alternative space. She was sent our "branding guidelines" to make sure she uses the correct font shaping for it. It is not stainless steel but more of a mild steel with a powder finishing on it to add coloring that typically lasts at least 30 years with proper maintenance annually. Alice wants a "intense" warm color pallet if it's going to be in a green space, Alicia wants to discuss project cost to set the price amount in before a concrete choice is made on color format that fits into the city's guidelines.

5. GIS Tool for Public Art

Jasmine is working Carley, GIS Manager, to get identified completed art around Lawrenceville added as a layer of mapping where community members can get insight into the artist, date of completion, a link to their website or social media channels that will be added to the Lawrenceville website for the community to see.
