As part of our year-long Bicentennial celebration, we want to take a look back at our Downtown Square. The City has recently created an alleyway between two buildings along Perry Street. We want to hear YOUR stories and memories (in the comments below) related to the former building that stood here for many years. And be on the lookout for an updated alleyway very soon! The house my mother grew up in during the 30/40s is still off the square, it was a Spa Sydel at one time. She used to roller skate around the square and always talked about the Ezzards.

Aunt Gerts house is still there too on the corner

I remember the policeman that used to walk the city streets and mark the tires of the parked cars instead of parking meters.
