ACTIVE AGENDA

5. PUBLIC COMMENTS

0:11:18 Dan Halacy, a North Ogden City resident, expressed concerns regarding safety issues near the stream behind The Lodge, a retirement home community located across from his residence at Prominence Point. He highlighted the lack of adequate fencing to prevent children from accessing the water, the potential dangers posed by the railings, and the presence of unleashed dogs in the area.

Mayor Berube acknowledged the concerns and inquired about ownership and responsibility for the issues.

City Manager/Attorney Jon Call clarified that while the lodge technically owns the ground where the creek runs, the Army Corps of Engineers governs the area. Liability would likely fall on The Lodge, but the City might be involved due to its easement for the public trail.

Mayor Berube suggested contacting The Lodge and the Homeowner's Association (HOA) to address the concerns collectively. Dan Halacy confirmed his efforts to communicate with The Lodge and resolve the issues.

Mayor Berube suggested posting notices regarding leash laws and offered assistance in addressing the concerns.

0:16:01 Reed Miller, a North Ogden City resident, referenced a previous discussion about property rights in regard to a local business, Big O Tires, and expressed disappointment that only one person had spoken up in support. Reed expressed concern regarding the protection of citizens' unalienable rights, specifically focusing on life, liberty, and property. He emphasized the importance of government officials safeguarding private property rights and moral agency. He urged officials to remain vigilant in protecting these fundamental rights in future decisions.

Reed concluded by highlighting the potential conflicts between City interests and individual rights and urged officials to prioritize the latter.

6. FISCAL YEAR 2024-2025 BUDGET PRESENTATIONS

0:19:15 Administrative Services: Administrative Services Manager/Treasurer Bryce Nelson outlined the budget, which included categories such as subscriptions and memberships, travel and training, office supplies and telephones, services not classified, and small equipment. He noted a 6.4% decrease in the budget for the upcoming fiscal year due to the completion of certain equipment purchases.

Bryce also provided updates on the department's goals from the previous year, including investments in protecting City assets and researching technology to streamline processes. For the upcoming year, goals include digitizing loans, continuing training efforts, and simplifying online services.

Mayor Berube inquired about tracking the incremental value of investments and the City Manager's contingency fund. Bryce affirmed that the fund hasn't been used in the past two years and agreed to provide more information on investment returns if desired. The Mayor emphasized the importance of tracking investment value, particularly given recent legislative changes affecting City finances.

0:28:13 City Recorder: City Recorder Rian Santoro highlighted a decrease of 34.4% in the City Recorder budget. This decrease is attributed to internalizing the minutes process, leading to reduced expenses previously incurred for outsourcing. Additionally, a contract with Granicus, intended for meeting minute recording, was terminated due to compatibility issues with existing software.

Rian outlined budget allocations for small equipment, subscriptions and memberships, travel and training, and office supplies. The travel and training budget covers attendance at conferences and local trainings relevant to the Recorder's role.

Goals for 2024 include acquiring a new website to enhance transparency and streamline records management processes.

Councilmember Pulver commended the Department's efforts in leveraging technology to reduce costs and paper usage.

Mayor Berube emphasized the importance of planning for automation to maintain efficiency amidst City growth.

0:34:16 Human Resources: Human Resources (HR) Director Katie Gerard presented the HR budget, which saw a decrease of 0.6%. The budget was broken down into subscriptions and memberships, travel and training, office supplies, computer services and software, telephone, and personnel-related costs.

Key memberships included the Society for Human Resource Management (SHRM) and the Northern Utah HR Association, providing valuable networking opportunities and resources. The travel and training budget covered attendance at conferences and local trainings relevant to HR topics. A new software program was proposed to provide training for all employees, covering topics like sexual harassment and ethics.

The personnel-related costs included annual labor law posters, employee recognition, team-building events, and federal e-filing.

Katie outlined the Department's goals for 2024, including setting clear performance expectations, enhancing employee engagement and satisfaction, and optimizing HR processes.

The presentation received commendations from Councilmember Pulver for fostering a positive work environment and reducing turnover rates.

Mayor Berube expressed interest in understanding the net increase in full-time employees after retirements and recruitment and emphasized the importance of managing growth and preparing for the City's future needs.

(See Attachment A: Administration Budget Presentation)

0:44:03 Council Member Watson expressed appreciation for the thoroughness and effort of the Administration Department Heads who provided detailed presentations on budget matters. She commended their dedication to saving money, protecting the budget, and providing valuable statistics for the community. Council Member Watson also mentioned being excited about upcoming software for online documentation and the potential cost savings and improvements in the City's new website.

Mayor Berube inquired about additional resources needed for resource management concerning the Administration Departments in the City and urged Council Member Watson to consider future implications and growth planning. Council Member Watson acknowledged the importance of planning for the future and expressed readiness to assist in that regard.

0:47:37 Building and Planning: Community and Economic Development Director Scott Hess provided an in-depth overview of the budget for the Building and Planning Departments. He began by mentioning that the Building Official couldn't attend due to other obligations but had provided the Building Department's budget information. Scott highlighted recent staffing changes, indicating that the Planning Department is now fully staffed with two full-time employees. The Building Department is experiencing a transition as Bruce Higley is retiring, with Ty Lopshire taking over his responsibilities as a Building Inspector.

Scott emphasized the importance of right-sizing the departments, mentioning that they have been adjusting to accommodate growth expectations over the past three years.

Despite some uncertainty in the Building Department due to fluctuations in building permits, Scott mentioned that historically, the department has covered its operating costs through fees. However, he expressed some concerns about this year's budget due to market conditions and a potential shortfall in fee revenue.

Regarding the Planning Department, Scott discussed reductions in the budget for travel, training, and professional services. He emphasized the department's commitment to providing excellent customer service, facilitating development and land use rights, and ensuring clear communication and reliable turnaround times.

The budget breakdown revealed that the majority of expenses are allocated to salaries, with limited discretionary spending available.

During the presentation, Council Members inquired about potential savings in the motor pool, considering Bruce's retirement. Additionally, they discussed revenue projections from building permits, highlighting the importance of maintaining fiscal responsibility and exploring opportunities for cost-saving measures.

(See Attachment B: Building and Planning Budget Presentation)

1:02:36 Finance: Mayor Berube provided a comprehensive overview of the responsibilities of the Finance Department, highlighting its critical role in the City's financial management. He emphasized that the Finance Department is tasked with preparing and monitoring the budget, ensuring compliance with State laws and regulations, and overseeing internal controls to prevent fraudulent activities. The Mayor stressed the importance of timely submission of audit reports and adherence to state and federal compliance requirements.

Furthermore, Mayor Berube discussed the challenges faced by the Finance Department, including the heavy workload associated with budget preparation and compliance tasks. He acknowledged the efforts made by Finance Director Jamie Jones to streamline processes and improve efficiency within the department.

Regarding the projected budget for the Finance Department, the Mayor noted an increase of $103,000 primarily attributed to personnel costs. He explained that this increase is necessary to address the growing workload and mitigate risks associated with staffing limitations. Mayor Berube emphasized the need for additional expertise, a full-time equivalent position, in finance and accounting to ensure the department's continued effectiveness. Additionally, the Mayor mentioned ongoing initiatives aimed at increasing efficiency, such as the potential rebidding of financial services and the implementation of a P card system.

Council Member Pulver contributed insights from the Budget Committee, highlighting discussions on various financial matters and expressing support for additional staffing in the Finance Department to manage the workload effectively.

(See Attachment C: Finance Budget Presentation)

1:10:30 Enterprise Funds: Public Works Director/Assistant City Manager Dave Espinoza gave a comprehensive presentation on Enterprise Funds, delving into the intricate workings of utilities, particularly focusing on the Water, Sewer, Stormwater, and Solid Waste Departments.

Beginning with the Water Department, Dave provided a detailed overview of recent achievements, including the successful installation of a 2-million-gallon storage tank, which significantly bolstered the department's capacity for water storage. He also highlighted the acquisition of essential equipment such as asphalt saws, which are vital for infrastructure maintenance and repair tasks. Additionally, he discussed ongoing projects such as well development initiatives and the strategic planning underway for booster stations, essential for maintaining consistent water pressure across the distribution network.

Transitioning to the Stormwater Department, Dave elaborated on various projects aimed at improving infrastructure resilience and operational efficiency. These initiatives included the implementation of storm drain lining techniques to enhance the longevity of critical infrastructure components. He also emphasized the importance of equipment upgrades, citing the sewer rat as a prime example of technology facilitating more effective sewer system maintenance practices. Moreover, he cautioned about the potential budgetary implications of upcoming projects and urged careful consideration of cost projections to ensure fiscal responsibility.

For the Sewer Department, Dave provided insights into the intricacies of sewer lining processes, highlighting their importance in extending the lifespan of sewer infrastructure and minimizing the need for costly repairs. He discussed cost projections for the upcoming fiscal year, stressing the significance of adopting cost-effective solutions amidst potential external cost pressures. Additionally, he outlined ongoing efforts to explore alternative suppliers for waste collection services, underscoring the department's commitment to optimizing operations while containing costs.

Concluding the presentation with the Solid Waste Department, Dave outlined the impending conclusion of the current service contract for waste containers and deliberated on future arrangements. He outlined potential cost implications associated with waste management services and proposed strategies to mitigate financial burdens, including the exploration of options for bulk purchasing of waste containers. Throughout the presentation, Dave emphasized the collaborative approach among utility departments and the necessity for proactive planning to address evolving challenges and ensure the provision of sustainable utility services for the community.

7. NEW NORTH OGDEN CITY WEBSITE BUDGET PROPOSAL

1:48:17 The presentation highlighted the significance of the City's online presence in engaging residents and ensuring transparent communication. It stressed the need for an updated website to facilitate better connection with citizens and streamline access to important information. After evaluating various vendors, including Revize, the presenters, City Recorder Rian Santoro, Human Resources Director Katie Gerard, and Administrative Services Manager/Treasurer Bryce Nelson, recommended switching from the current provider, CivicPlus, to Revize due to its superior features and cost-effectiveness. Revize's demo showcased enhanced control, ease of access, and quicker response times for website issues, which aligns with the City's goals of keeping residents informed and up to date. The migration cost to CivicPlus' new platform was stated to be $5,500 with a timeline of 6-9 months, although specific dates were uncertain, raising concerns about delays.

In contrast, Revize offered a more cost-effective solution, providing an annual savings of $4,450 compared to CivicPlus. This cost-saving included an Intranet for City employees, improved website features, and increased engagement opportunities for residents.

Three payment options were presented, but without any discount for upfront payment, spreading the cost over five years seemed the most prudent approach. It was agreed that staff would seek additional feedback from citizens and current website users to address any potential concerns.

(See Attachment E: North Ogden City Website Budget Proposal)

Council Member Pulver motioned to approve Option 1 of the new Website Project and Services Payment Plan, along with authorizing the signing of the contract with Revize. This approval is subject to gathering further feedback from regular North Ogden City Website users. Council Member Barker seconded the motion.

8. DISCUSSION AND/OR ACTION TO APPROVE THE LOCAL TRANSPORTATION FUNDING AGREEMENT A4-2024, FOR THE NEXT PHASE OF 450 E TO 3100 NORTH.

2:13:24 City Manager/Attorney Jon Call provided an overview of the agreement regarding the widening of 450 East. The project extends from just above 2850 to the intersection of 3100 and 400 East, with an estimated total cost of $6.7 million. The Weber Area Council of Governments (WACOG) has committed approximately $4 million towards the project, leaving the City responsible for the remaining $2.7 million. The majority of the City's share is sourced from impact fees ($2.2 million) and rental income from properties owned by the City ($750,000).

The agreement seeks to secure the final round of funding necessary to complete the project, which includes transforming 450 East into a five-lane road with designated bike lanes.

Mayor Berube and Council Member Pulver discussed the potential resale of properties acquired for the project, with Council Member Dalpias raising questions about a specific property at 2850 Washington. Staff mentioned ongoing discussions with potential buyers and highlighted the possibility of rezoning the property, with considerations for input from neighboring residents.

Other activities include mowing, turf maintenance, spraying for weeds, and fertilizing. The bathrooms in the parks are set to open next week, and seasonal job applications are being accepted, with interviews already underway for part-time positions.

10. PUBLIC COMMENTS

2:28:54 Merrill Sunderlund, a North Ogden City resident, expressed concerns about the City website upgrade or transition, highlighting the potential for confusion and troubleshooting during the transition period. Merrill recommended appointing someone to oversee the process to ensure a smooth transition. He noted that while the Mayor mentioned this oversight role, there seemed to be different departmental responsibilities for the website, suggesting the need for a committee to manage the transition effectively.

2:31:23 Phillip Swanson, a North Ogden City resident, commended the departments for their efforts in finding opportunities for efficiency within the budget, appreciating their frugality. Phillip also highlighted the importance of continued support for employee training and travel to ensure they remain knowledgeable and competent. He expressed satisfaction with the efforts made by the HR Department to improve morale. Regarding the budget for Flash Votes, he questioned its usage, noting that despite being paid for, it has only been utilized once by the City. He suggested that the City either increase its usage or consider discontinuing payments for it. Swanson briefly mentioned reviewing a few City web pages hosted by Revize, emphasizing the need to involve less technically savvy residents in the design and beta testing process. He shared feedback on website design, advocating for intuitive navigation and prioritizing citizen input. He criticized the overreliance on search bars for navigation, suggesting that web pages should be designed for easy access to information without relying solely on search functions. Lastly, Swanson provided a practical tip for improving microphone usage during meetings, suggesting lowering the microphone closer to the counter for better sound quality. He thanked the Council for their service.

2:34:12 Brenda Ashdown, a North Ogden City resident, shared her perspective on the new website. She expressed enthusiasm for the decision to switch to a new company for the website, citing its anticipated cost-effectiveness and improved aesthetics. Brenda contrasted the current website unfavorably with the ones she reviewed that day, emphasizing their user-friendliness. She appreciated the Council's willingness to make this change. In response to a previous comment, she disagreed with concerns about potential difficulties in transitioning to the new website, believing it would offer enhanced visibility and ease of navigation.

2:35:33 Susan Clements, a North Ogden City resident, expressed her appreciation for the opportunity to attend the meeting online, mentioning her involvement with the North Ogden Historical Museum as a reason for not attending in person. She praised the Council's new meeting set-up and remarked on the clarity of audio. She suggested improving clarity for those speaking from the audience or without a microphone. Susan then inquired about the construction timeline for the area from 2850 to 3100.

City Manager/Attorney Jon Call explained that design work would start soon, with budget requests expected in the coming months.

Susan also mentioned the opening of the Green Waste Facility, expressing gratitude for the information provided on the website and emphasizing her community's appreciation for the service.

2:38:26 Susan Kilborn, a North Ogden City resident, raised a question about whether anyone in the City Administration is knowledgeable about artificial intelligence (AI) and its potential benefits. She shared her belief in the positive impact AI could have in streamlining processes, citing her son's success with a newsletter as an example. Kilborn also suggested that the City could save money by obtaining required posters from government agencies for free rather than purchasing expensive versions.

11. MAYOR/COUNCIL/STAFF COMMENTS

2:40:13 Administrative Services Manager/Treasurer Bryce Nelson announced that there has been an application to change the domain name from Northogdencity.com to Northogdencity.gov. The change is expected to take effect in the next couple of months, affecting the website, emails, and other related communications. It was noted that the City will keep ownership of Northogdencity.com and communications will automatically be forwarded to the Northogdencity.gov.

2:40:33 City Manager/Attorney Jon Call relayed information from Jami in Finance regarding Senate Bill 91, which now requires a separate Budget Hearing for salaries in the City. This hearing will compare department heads' current salaries to proposed increases and aims to enhance transparency. Jon acknowledged potential discomfort with discussing salaries publicly but emphasized the importance of transparency.

Jon reminded the Council about Building Inspector Bruce Higley's retirement party on Thursday, encouraging attendance.

Jon provided updates on ongoing projects, including the nearing completion of the parking lot and the Senior Center receiving a new roof, which is partly funded by insurance.

2:43:32 Council Member Pulver announced that he has begun working on the protocol for City events.

2:43:48 Council Member Barker relayed information regarding the FEMA training that was discussed in the last meeting. Weber County Emergency Manager Lisa Schwartz-Gosling offered to conduct a one-hour training session, but for certification, it would require two emergency managers from neighboring counties to conduct a two-week session.

The unanimous consensus among the Council Members was that the one-hour training session was the preferred option. Council Member Barker agreed to get that training scheduled for an upcoming meeting.

2:44:49 Council Member Cevering inquired about the progress of the prescriptive easement. City Manager/Attorney Jon Call informed that discussions are scheduled for a meeting in two weeks, addressing various matters including the prescriptive easement. Council Member Cevering then shared a message from a concerned parent regarding increased costs at the North Shore Aquatic Center. Council Member Cevering suggested that the City provide clarification to avoid negative perceptions and misinformation.

The meeting adjourned at 8:46 p.m.
