5. New Business
 - Communications:
 - i. Quarterly Pennington Borough Newsletter –
 - Latest newsletter was not sent with water bill but will be sent with borough tax forms.
 - ii. Site Planning Reviews – Wetlands application
 - EC is periodically approached and tasked with providing input on environmental concerns posed by the planning board. The Wetlands application noted above is informative and does not require an EC assessment. When assessments are sought, there are forms/templates that can be used to record deliberations.

- Community Engagement:
 - i. Community Event Ideation
 - Proposal approved that the borough poll residents on rank-ordering a series of environmental topics for a weekday night presentation in the fall on the topic that receives the highest number of votes. The topics to be included in the online questionnaire will be finalized over next month.
 - ii. ANJEC Open Space Community Grant Award Update
 - The Sourland Conservancy Foraging Forest led by Dan Pace was visited by a small group of the EC. While the fenced area will be similar to Pennington's proposed Arboretum, the signage and information offerings were more basic than proposed for Pennington's arboretum.
 - The trees being offered to us by ANJEC are no longer available to Pennington because of high demand.
- Strategic Projects:

i. GBESE update –

- The GBESE has been restructured to reduce repetitions, make it easier to follow and connect actions to features of the emerging Master Plan. Details about Storm water management were expanded. This version was approved by the EC and will be sent to the planning board.

ii. Continuous Learning

- The history and conservation focus Garden Club of NJ and North America, especially with respect to legislation and policy formulation were highlighted. The Clubs were among the first organization in NJ to push for elimination of invasive species; to push for wildflower preserves; and to champion an environmental ethics. Steps on transforming lawns to wildflower meadows were raised and will be looked into. The attachment provides more details on the varied and important accomplishments of the Club.

iii. Old / Unfinished Business:

i. Question: “In an effort to be more transparent with our community, should we post our 2024 annual plan on our EC webpage?”

- The timeline of planned activities could be shared. There was also discussion as to whether a monthly plan could be shared on what topics will be discussed at each EC meeting. This may be challenging, as topics are in constant flux but Kieran will explore, and report back if this can be done realistically.
