Future Land Use Planning Related to the Campus Property – Glasbrenner explained that Richland County has commenced a reconfiguration process to determine the future use of the campus property. Although the campus property is owned by Richland County, it is within city boundaries and subject to zoning regulations. Some areas of consideration to be aware were the impact to streets, bridge capacity and lifespan, floodplain, stormwater, rezoning, and compatibility with the comprehensive plan. Due to this, Glasbrenner explained the need for clear and consistent communication with Richland County. Further, it is the desire to work in partnership with the County to support the process. Motion to submit a letter of support and request for communication to the Richland County Board of Supervisors. Motion by Tepley, seconded by Cairns. Motion carried.
