D. Discussion/Review of Regular Council Meeting

E. Presentation Items

E.1. Google Fiber update. (By Google Fiber Representatives)

Alberto Garcia (Government and Community Affairs Google Fiber) Since 2021 they have made Google Fiber service available to 15,982 homes, amounting to 1,055,500 linear feet or 199 miles within the city. This year they have added 5,664 homes, and they still have work to do. They discussed their future intentions to stay with the city in the future to stay on top of future projects that could impact their infrastructure. Jeff McKay and his team do a great job with keeping in contact and staying on top of potential issues in the future.

Council Member Zander joined the meeting.

Jeff McKay (Construction Manager Utah/Idaho) they are currently closing out existing permits, and still looking at other opportunities as they come in including new builds, HOAs currently in contracts, etc.

Mr. Garcia continued discussing the rest of the city that doesn't have service yet, with a large portion of that being Daybreak which is bound by a competitor's contract.

Mayor Ramsey asked about her neighborhood.

Mr. McKay responded her neighborhood is unfortunately limited by their isolation, requiring the infrastructure to go through Daybreak to get to that neighborhood. They have spoken to staff and discussed some options.

Mr. Garcia added that they are happy to look at specific addresses and neighborhoods to explain why, logistically, they weren't able to reach them, and explore options to connect them. At this point, they have basically reached everywhere they can as a whole.

Council Member McGuire asked about the buy-in needed to justify reaching customers and discussed the Daybreak residents paying twice for internet and already paying other competitors for internet since the HOA provided internet doesn't meet their needs.

Mr. Garcia responded it's not about the buy-in, they want as many customers as possible. It's more the logistic construction components of getting to those areas. He discussed the mayor's neighborhood and having to go through Daybreak to connect there.

Staff and presenters discussed the fact that Daybreak does not own their roads, and that the city or Google Fiber could do work there, running their cables, without the HOA's permission.

Mr. Garcia noted that while they could legally add the cables to the road, it would be running a lot of cable to get to one neighborhood. It's the density of the area they are running cables to that matters more than anything else.

Council Member McGuire added it's not just the mayor's neighborhood, but the additional growth coming out that way in the near future that should be considered.

Council Member Zander noted there is a huge development west of Daybreak coming into the city, so beyond the mayor's neighborhood there is a huge amount of housing coming that could justify beginning that connection now. It also means in seven years, when the Daybreak contract is up, Google Fiber is better positioned to negotiate for that new business if they are already there.

E.2. Water Utility Rates & Solid Waste Fee Study Presentation. (By Director of Public Works, Raymond Garrison & LRB Vice President, Fred Philpot)

Fred Philpot reviewed Attachment A regarding the water utility rates & solid waste study results.

Council Member Zander asked for a dollar amount being added to the bill for an average resident.

Mr. Philpot responded average indoor use a month is about 6,000 – 10,000 gallons.

Assistant City Manager Jason Rasmussen shared for comparison that he lives on a quarter acre and in the summer he uses about 30,000 – 35,000 gallons indoor and outdoor.

Mr. Philpot added that it's about a $7.00 increase on 80,000 gallons per month, so for a smaller or more average lot you'd be looking at around a $3.00 - $4.00 increase per month for water and $1.30 per month for garbage.

Council Member Zander noted that when/if this happens, it needs to be made very clear that the increased costs depend on the tiers and how much water you use and/or conserve; send a message of the more you conserve, the more money you save.

F. Discussion Item

F.1. Short Term Rentals. (By Assistant City Manager, Jason Rasmussen & City Attorney, Ryan Loose)

City Attorney Ryan Loose introduced the Air DNA information being presented on Attachment B, noting that the city boundaries were not reflected properly in the report, but Air DNA has been alerted and they have agreed to get those fixed for future reports. Those discrepancies were noted by staff reviewing the report and have been taken into consideration during this report.

Assistant City Attorney Charity Brienz reviewed Attachment B. She noted before her presentation that all the data after the first slide of the presentation will be 30 short-term rentals short. South Jordan has approximately 240 short-term rentals inside the city boundaries, but Air DNA categorized them by sub-area resulting in only 210 of the short-term rentals being recognized.

Attorney Loose continued noting that after the last meeting, it appeared that the council had agreed they didn't necessarily want to require a manager or owner to live on the property, but that they wanted them to be within a certain distance for response. It also seemed that there were concerns about parking and homes being up to code for large groups. He noted that requiring short-term rentals to go through a business licensing process would allow for inspections and requirements for safety, along with ensuring the owner or manager lives within a specific distance from the property. When police are called to a short-term rental, if they know who the owner or designated manager is and how to contact them, it makes it much easier to hold the owners responsible and take care of issues.

Assistant Attorney Brienz noted that some cities have signage requirements that include a contact number posted on the outside of the rental for easy contact, and this was also recommended by Attorney Loose as it allows both neighbors and emergency personnel to easily contact the person responsible. He noted that information can also be stored under their business license, rather than a physical sign, however that information can be hard to access in an emergency.

The council discussed the maximum distance an owner/manager should have to reside from the property, and it was agreed that it should be within one to three hours. They also discussed the contact information for the owner/manager being posted either somewhere obvious within the home or on the outside, agreeing that if on the outside it should be something small, like a no soliciting sign.

City Attorney Loose then moved on to discussing a potential maximum number of days allowed for short-term rentals, number of guests, etc. The council discussed parking issues, noting that restricting parking would automatically limit the number of guests allowed.

Assistant Attorney Brienz noted that the city of Hurricane, Utah only allows up to 10 guests in a short-term rental. If a rental wants to allow more than 10 guests there are additional requirements for safety like fire inspections, etc.

Attorney Loose also noted that groups using Uber or renting large passenger vehicles for transport can fill up a home quickly with very little to no parking required. There are multiple ways to get a large group into a home without having to worry about parking a bus on the street, which is against city code.

Council Member Zander reiterated that currently there is no regulations on short-term rentals in the city, because it is currently against city code to short-term rental a home or any part of it.

Attorney Loose agreed and noted that any of the online listed short-term rentals could be reported and the city would reach out and tell the owners on record they are against the rules.

Mayor Ramsey brought up the guest limit in Hurricane, and noted she doesn't want to legislate everything to a "worst case scenario," since those are rare and dealt with. She doesn't think banning large groups overall is the answer, and did prefer more of the approach in Hurricane, creating additional requirements when larger groups are being marketed.

Council Member Johnson suggested creating more of a plan for the space as a whole, and how it should look with larger groups of people, rather than just setting a maximum limit for everyone.

Chief Carr noted that his concern would be safety as well, that fire sprinklers and other safety measures like emergency exits were not capable of handling those larger groups. He is fine with larger groups, as long as the building is appropriately outfitted to safely host those larger numbers.

Attorney Loose noted that he will address those safety concerns in the verbiage he comes back with, along with everything else discussed. He asked if the council wanted to have an absolute maximum number of people allowed, despite safety requirements being met. He gave examples of max guests per room or square feet, and the council agreed to look at some calculated examples of that when he comes back, rather than just a fixed maximum number of people. He then asked if the council had a desire to limit the number of short-term rentals allowed on one property, meaning they couldn't list their ADU and main home as two separate listings.

Council Member Zander shared that a resident suggested to her they come out of the gate very restrictive on this, and then back off as time goes on and they see how things go. She then asked, if they come out very restrictive as a city and it doesn't go well, what would be the recourse to adjust those things.

Attorney Loose responded they would just sit down as a council and create an ordinance to change the restriction. Once the rules are in place, they know where all the short-term rentals are, Legal with work with business licensing to reach out to all the owners and share the new ordinance with the requirements and offer help with business licensing if they need it. If they don't respond within the timeframe given in the initial contact, the city will begin with sending it through the code enforcement process. If that is still ignored it will move to the next step in the legal process.

Council Member Zander asked what happens if a short-term rental owner contacts the city, saying the new ordinance requirements don't work for them. For instance, they are only allowed 10 guests, but they have a seven bedroom home that can fit many more people than that.

Attorney Loose responded there would be no exceptions. They are establishing rules and setting the boundaries now.

Council Member Zander wants the council to consider whether they should start out less restrictive and tighten things up as they watch the results, or start super restrictive and ease things up as they watch what happens. As the council is piecing all of these parts together, they really need to consider that.

Attorney Loose noted that they can try and get info on what other cities are doing, but that can be hard to use since every city is going to do what works best for them. The information being presented is to show the council the main points they need to address and make decisions on now.

Council Member Johnson noted that if they start easy and decide to tighten it up later that won't work, as she believes the owners will get the letter, see the new requirements and give resistance from that point. Trying to come back and make things even harder will just create more problems. All the neighbors around these short-term rentals bought their homes as residences, they were not planning for their neighbors to turn their homes into a business. She understands the economy has changed, but she believes they should only be allowed to do this if it will not be a huge impact on their neighbors. She would like to look as creating something that gives the least amount of impact to the neighbors. There will be some impact, but let's try to keep these neighborhoods as residential neighborhoods.

Council Member Harris acknowledged all the discussion here today, noting the council member and staff personal experiences with these types of rentals in other areas. He is assuming that everyone here was a fantastic renter, causing no trouble and being the perfect renter. However, he doesn't believe that is the concern being addressed here. There are people renting these units out that will cause problems, and the city needs to make sure they are protecting the people outside those homes. He did some online research and saw those nightmare scenarios from other areas. He wants to be reasonable, but he doesn't want to be so broad that it makes things difficult for the others in the neighborhood.

Attorney Loose encouraged the council, from both an enforcement and legal standpoint, that eventually everything is done with criminal enforcement in mind. He would set whatever regulation they choose to set, and leave that in place without changes for at least a year or two to see what happens. If they are frequently changing the code to loosen or tighten up a regulation, it becomes extremely difficult to administer; either prohibiting it entirely or having no rules at all is easier than a moving target.

Director Preece used the food truck ordinance implementation as an example. While deciding what to include they discussed their fears, what have they heard and seen. They then put together an ordinance, and within a year they looked at it again and rewrote the entire ordinance after watching it work and seeing what is actually enforceable, what really doesn't matter, what did they not think about, etc. They had a plan from the beginning to look at the ordinance again within a year and there was quite a bit of stuff that it turned out they didn't need to worry about and stuff that it turned out they needed to pay more attention to or didn't even think of. He would suggest writing the ordinance they want, with their worst case fears in mind, and then re-evaluating it in about a year.

Assistant Attorney Brienz shared a few things she has seen some cities do to help the neighbors and neighborhoods, including limitations on the total number of licenses, or a dispersion requirement to avoid a bunch on one street with only one actual homeowner living in their home as a resident all the time.

Attorney Loose brought the conversation back around and asked if the council wanted to limit the number of listing allowed per lot, and the council replied that they did want to limit that to one per lot. He then asked about parking spaces, do they want the guests to be allowed to use the public roads, or do they want them to have to park on-site.

Council Member McGuire is for both, as we allow everyone else to park on the street; he doesn't see the justification for banning them from the public right-of-way when everyone else can use it.

Assistant Attorney Brienz noted that in the cities that did require all parking to be on the property, the only difference it made was being able to tell who was making money and running a business and who was just visiting the neighborhood.

Chief Carr also added that when they get calls for things like that, enforcing parking on the property versus on the street, the only thing they can look at is whether the car is legally parked or not.

Council Member Zander noted that if they did require parking on the property it would reduce the number of guests, unless they use Uber or something similar to get there. It would also give the city some more leverage to enforce infractions.

Attorney Loose noted that it would stop the larger gatherings with people coming from multiple places, but only if they can prove the cars are all there for that home. Many people who rent out their homes do want to follow the rules, once they know them. Those people will stripe spaces on their property to comply.

Council Member Zander noted that those only renting out a bedroom or two could technically park their own vehicles on the street and have the renters park in the driveway or garage, but a requirement on parking would require them to be creative.

Attorney Loose noted there are good arguments on both sides, but noted that parking is the biggest impact most neighbors see with every rental, even the best renters can't avoid having all those cars if multiple groups are coming to the same place.

Council Member Harris preferred requiring parking on the property.

Council Member Zander is agreeable to that as well.

Council Member Johnson agreed to on-site parking as well.

Assistant Attorney Brienz discussed dispersion requirements. It will be an enforcement issue, as Attachment B shows where all the current rentals are and everyone can see how they are grouped. If a dispersion requirement was made, and one neighbor gets a permit first, the other neighbors would not be able to get one.

Council Member Johnson noted that a cul-de-sac in her ward has at least five short-term rentals currently, clarifying that they are only renting part of the homes, not the full home.

Attorney Loose responded that may be a case where with partial home rentals they might allow them to be a little bit closer together than homes being fully rented out.

Mayor Ramsey noted that the council has been elected to make the difficult decisions, and they need to find the fine line. Private property ownership is the most important thing, and it's the private property of the people who want to rent out their homes and the private property of their neighbors, along with the quality of life and impact of both. Regarding this potential dispersion requirement, if she were the neighbor who did have a permit, that would be great for her. However, if she was a neighbor that moved in later and then was told she couldn't do it because her neighbor is already doing it, that would feel like the previous Google Fiber discussion earlier tonight where the response is "sorry, your neighborhood doesn't get it" due to an issue out of your control.

Assistant Attorney Brienz added that they could also look at the properties that have an owner living there, and are only renting out a portion of their home. They don't have to necessarily put dispersion requirements on those types of rentals, those requirements can be applied only to whole property rentals, or any other category the council chooses.

Council Member Johnson asked if they could say that rental properties with the owner living on the property could be allowed closer together.

Attorney Loose responded that would probably be a little too complicated to hash out.

Director Preece believes if they choose the dispersion option, there will be much more enforcement time required as many will just think they can keep doing what they're doing until they get caught.

The council discussed whether or not to enact a dispersion requirement. They discussed the possibility of "cluster" areas where they might want to have the option in the future, but other than the lake and future ballpark they didn't see any other areas that could be a problem.

Council Member Johnson did mention an area north of Merit Medical, an older neighborhood that currently has a large amount, and along South Jordan Parkway in her district.

Attorney Loose noted those rentals were not showing on the Air DNA reports they ran.

Council Member Zander asked, if they did opt for the dispersion requirement and put a limit on the amount allowed within an area, what would happen in her area.

Attorney Loose responded that the first one to come in, if they complied with all the other requirements, would get a license, and the rest would be denied based on the dispersion requirement; unless there was a delayed dispersion requirement enforcement, which would allow all those currently in operation to get licenses, but no new businesses to be started. It was discussed that if someone were to then buy a house after that in the area, and apply for a short-term rental business license they would be denied. It was brought up that no one would really know they weren't eligible for that when they bought the home, and would be rightfully upset when they bought the home and then were denied the license. He also noted there are some HOAs in the areas where the reports are showing dots for rentals, and that would be up to the HOA to enforce.

Assistant Attorney Brienz clarified that they are only talking about short-term rentals, any dispersion requirements on those would not have any effect on regular rentals of 30 days or more. There would still be an option to long-term rent their space if they were denied for the short-term license.

Attorney Loose noted based on the discussion they will write the first draft without the dispersion requirement, but the council can always decide after review to add that in if they change their minds.

Council Member Johnson noted she isn't sure if she agrees with no dispersion requirement, she will have to really think about that over the next few weeks.

Attorney Loose responded they will bring back an ordinance without it, but they will have additional options prepared with language to allow a dispersion requirement for the council to look at. He then moved on to asking about limiting the total amount of short-term rentals allowed in the city.

Council Member Zander suggested coming back and reviewing the numbers in a year to see if there is a huge jump from the current number in the city, and if there is, they could discuss setting a limit on the total number.

Council Member McGuire noted that one of the arguments against short-term rentals is housing affordability; short-term rentals are driving up the prices of housing. Based on that, he is comfortable with putting a limit on the number allowed in the city at some point.

Council Member Harris agreed with Council Member McGuire's statement.

Mayor Ramsey agreed that tying the total number allowed to the population felt like the right approach, rather than an arbitrary number.

Attorney Loose did note that the only issue with tying it to the population is that over time, population will increase, but the property sizes being added are getting smaller, which means more people are being packed in. The parking requirement would help corral some of that, especially with townhomes and higher density areas.

Council Member McGuire agreed he'd like to see a total number requirement suggestion based off the population as well.

Mayor Ramsey concluded by saying that the overall goal in creating this ordinance is to maintain the integrity of our neighborhoods, protecting the quality of life, without overreaching into people's personal property rights.

ADJOURNMENT

Council Member McGuire motioned to adjourn the October 1, 2024 City Council Study Meeting. Council Member Johnson seconded the motion; vote was 4-0 unanimous in favor, Council Member Shelton was absent from the vote.

F. Public Comment

Mayor Ramsey opened the public comment portion of the meeting.

Lisa Stowe (Resident) – I have two short term rentals on my street. Thank you for allowing me to sit in on your study meetings, it has been extremely educational and enlightening, and it has been very hard to keep my mouth shut but I have done it so far; thank you for giving me this forum to speak. I also wanted to thank those of you who have been able to read the letter that I had provided previously, and am assuming you all have or will read that letter; I don't want to get into too much detail but wanted to share specifically some of things I have been able to observe in the study meeting and some of your proposals and some of my thoughts on that. I have heard a lot of things in the study meetings about regulating it, but I have not heard anything about benefits of having short-term rentals, other than perhaps residents might be annoyed and complain. Based on some of the statistics in the meeting, it seems to me that some of these people might not even be South Jordan City residents, and I would be less inclined to think their opinion would matter as much as those of us who actually live here. We talked a little bit about property rights and private property rights, I would personally argue that property owners don't have the right to operate residences as a business. I know that I have proposed in my letter and other places that it's perhaps a zoning violation, and I understand that probably from a regulatory perspective to enforce and manage that there may be challenges, so I know that might not be the angle we want to take, but I would still suggest that providing short-term housing to someone is a non-residential use because it is solely for business purposes. Just like I can't move out of my home and turn it into a restaurant, even if I had a business license because it's still a business, I think that's a similar argument for what they're doing as well. Again, I think the business license might be a good vehicle for that, but I think it's interesting to acknowledge it being a business, but it's not a home business because they don't live there. In talking about some of the solutions, I think I want to consider some of the outcomes we are looking for. I think if we are looking to limit complaints of residents in terms of people like me who live next to short-term rentals, certain regulatory actions could be taken, but I also think volume in and of itself is a concern and what it does to a community; being able to regulate the volume of them is also really important to me as well. If that is the case, I think some of what we would want to put into place might be those things that might dissuade someone from wanting to start, or maintain their short-term rental, that may make it a little bit harder to do so versus just trying to solve the concerns of the citizens that live next to it. In terms of the other solutions we talked about, people being nearby to come quickly, in my particular situation, the person that lives next door to me that maintains that home is less than five minutes away, but it doesn't arm me with a lot of ability. I can either try to talk to them, but why would they want to please me when they have someone who's going to be rating them on a website that's going to affect their bottom line, where they want to get five stars. I also don't like to call the police, assuming it's a citable offense, because I understand that's also a disruption to the police department if it's not a dangerous situation. It still doesn't allow me a lot of options.

G. Public Hearing Item

G.1. Ordinance 2024-21, Adopting an amended and updated Impact Fee for Transportation within the "Last Hold Out" properties; establishing certain policies related to Impact Fees for Transportation Facilities; establishing Service Area; and/or other related matters. (By Director of Strategy & Budget, Don Tingey & LRB Vice President, Fred Philpot)

Fred Philpot reviewed his prepared presentation (Attachment A) regarding the proposed amendment related to Transportation elements of the Impact Fees.

Mayor Ramsey opened the Public Hearing for comments.

John Gust (Business Representative) – I represent the South Jordan Commercial Development on 10600 South and Mountain View Corridor. We haven't formally named it yet, but we're close. We have been going over the fees with Don and our traffic engineer. We met yesterday and today, and there are some issues we still feel are open. The biggest issue is we have the retail component, the sit-down restaurant component, and we have the fast food/drive-thru/fast casual component. We don't have a problem with retail or sit-down restaurants basically, but the area that is really kind of troubling for us is the fast food or fast casual drive-thru. If I can just indulge you for a moment and go over the fees for retail on the Daybreak side, which is on the south side, and we are on the north side. We sold them the south side so they could be cohesive in what they wanted to do around the ballpark area. For retail their fees are around $2000, they did put in the improvements out there obviously, but they still have a fee of $2000 for retail. Sit-down is $4569 and fast food is $15,731 per thousand square feet. On our side, the fee is doubled where our retail is up to $4780, the sit-down restaurant is $11,125, and it's about a two to one difference in price. However, the fast food casual is $38,000 per thousand square feet. The problem we have is that obviously we are competing technically, they have the south side and we have the north side, and we feel it puts us at somewhat of a disadvantage out there, how do we compete. In the ordinance that Don and those guys gave to us today there was a blended opportunity under the rules, and Josh can explain that better, but we talk about the blended rate and he can do a better job on that than I can. What I am asking is if we could maybe postpone making this decision for a couple of weeks, allowing us to work this through with the staff a little further and come back with a recommendation that we can all agree on, and I can brief Doug and all the other partners in our project a little bit more thoroughly than I have.

Josh Gibbons (Hales Engineering) – we worked with John to review the impact fees. I will say, before I go over a couple things, we reviewed how the impact fees were calculated, overall it looked like a great process. We worked with Fred on other projects and he does great work, so from that side of things it all looked good. What John is referring to tonight is more on the back end when the development is brought forth to calculate the impact fees, how it is calculated. As he mentioned, the fees have lowered, and are still at least double what Daybreak would be. It is less than South Jordan proper, but double the Daybreak area. What we have discussed a little bit is that you can look at individual retail land uses, general retail or fast food. Fast food generates much more traffic than a typical retail, so you can look at them individually, but based on the national standards you can also look at them as a collective retail development, which is what John is planning in that area, where it is a mix of retail, restaurants which can include fast food and other things like that. The standard that would be followed would be to look at the site as a whole and run it as a collective general retail shopping plaza or shopping center, those are the terms we use, and in the end it is more of a blended rate, where it is going to be slightly higher than your just retail land use, but lower than your fast food. What that allows you to do is to have it be more spread out amongst all the square footage, instead of fast food being so high; that is what John is talking about, the concern of fast food being high. From a traffic engineer's prospective, that would meet the standard procedures to look at the site as a whole, if that were possible on the back end, but obviously I understand that would be up to staff how that is calculated, potentially with a traffic study to back that up with the data to show that. That is the information I wanted to share today, that the typical would be a blended rate, which in the end is actually how WCG ran the numbers in the first place, as a collective whole of square footage for retail and similar uses.

Mayor Ramsey closed the Public Hearing and turned to the council for comments or questions.

Council Member Zander asked Mr. Philpot about the quoted numbers being double and triple the Daybreak rates.

Mr. Philpot explained the difference between the Daybreak service area and South Jordan proper service area as having to do with the agreements made relative to Daybreak putting in infrastructure, which had a credit applied. The impact fee, while it might look disproportionate on the surface, actually has other mechanism used to pay for infrastructure that are not included in the Daybreak fees because they are fronting that cost. To keep that proportionate and fair, those agreement are considered. For other areas without that development agreement in place, the infrastructure is funded, in part, with the impact fee, which increases that allocation.

Council Member Zander asked Mr. Philpot if he feels, in his professional opinion, that the fees are balanced.

Mr. Philpot responded that yes, they are proportionate relative to the information.

Council Member Johnson noted Mr. Gust's comment on "blending," and asked if he is developing the whole development.

Mr. Philpot responded that he was not sure on the specifics to the development itself, but all impact fees, including the city's impact fees ordinance, allows for consideration for different land use types. They provide a schedule with standard uses, relative to the cost per trip and application at cost per trip, but there is also a nonstandard formula that can be utilized for a developer to come in and say they feel differently about what the schedule shows and present data to support their feelings. The city is obligated to review that information. They are not required to take action, but the city is obligated to review that information and have that dialogue with the developer. If they come to consensus that there is a need to asses an alternative fee, then the city can do that; that often happens with communities, but it is conditional upon the developer providing that information to the city for reconsideration. It is also part of the ordinance that a developer can come in and offer to do some of the improvements themselves in lieu of impact fees. In this case that doesn't necessarily apply because it's all a buy-in for infrastructure that is already constructed. For this specific service area, there is no additional infrastructure assessed, which is why you see the impact fee for this service area is actually lower than the South Jordan proper service area recently adopted.

Council Member Zander noted that Mr. Gust discussed their property being split and sold partially to Daybreak, with the southern piece being adopted into the Daybreak service area.

Mr. Philpot responded that he wasn't sure if that would remove them from the service area. As defined in the 2024 Transportation Impact Fees, there is a delineation for the Daybreak service area, the South Jordan proper service area, and the Rio Tinto service area. These areas were specifically pulled out during the last hold-out analysis and addressed separately, not included in the Daybreak or South Jordan proper service area.

Council Member Harris acknowledged Mr. Gust's request to delay voting for this tonight, but based on the discussion it sounds like there is already a solution for that, allowing him to address the city directly if he feels there is an alternative way to calculate his fees.

Mr. Philpot agreed and reiterated that there is a process in the current ordinance to allow for alternative consideration.

Manager Lewis stated that there has been a lot of time spent working on this, and he feels the city is good to move forward with it as presented.

Council Member McGuire motioned to approve Ordinance 2024-21, Adopting an amended and updated Impact Fee for Transportation within the "Last Hold Out" properties. Council Member Zander seconded the motion.

H. Staff Reports and Calendaring Items

Director of Engineering Brad Klavano gave a quick update on 9800 South and Bangerter. A few weeks ago, UDOT informed the city they would not close the east/west until the first of December; they are behind getting the future on and off ramps completed. Regarding the pedestrian bridge, we should start to see components coming in over the next month or so, being installed as they come in, with their commitment to have it done by Thanksgiving with it being open after Thanksgiving break. UDOT is still working with the school district on bussing and paying for hazardous bussing at the moment.

Council Member Zander motioned to adjourn the October 1, 2024 City Council Meeting. Council Member Johnson seconded the motion; vote was 4-0, unanimous in favor. Council Member Shelton was absent from the vote.

SOUTH JORDAN CITY CITY COUNCIL REPORT

Meeting Date: 10-15-24

Issue: DAYBREAK URBAN CENTER WATERLINE EASEMENT AND FIRE ACCESS EASEMENT VACATION

Address: Approx. 5440 W. Center Field Drive

File No: PLPLA202400165

Applicant: Perigee Consultants

Submitted by: Greg Schindler, City Planner

Presented by: Steven Schaefermeyer, Director of Planning

Staff Recommendation (Motion Ready):

- I move to Approve Ordinance 2024-22 vacating a South Jordan City waterline easement and fire access easement located on properties located at near 5440 W Center Field Drive.

CURRENT USE

The property is currently vacant.

FUTURE USE

North – Future Daybreak Development (Residential)

South – Future Daybreak Development (Residential)

BACKGROUND:

The applicant, Perigee Consultants, on behalf of property owner LHM Real Estate, has petitioned the City to vacate a South Jordan City waterline easement located on lots C-108 through C-113 of the Daybreak Urban Center Plat 1 subdivision. Also included in the petition is a proposal to vacate a South Jordan City fire access easement located on lots C-109 through C-111 and lot C-113 of the Daybreak Urban Center Plat 1 subdivision. These lots include the baseball stadium and adjacent development. Both easements will be relocated in very close proximity to the existing easements.

STAFF FINDINGS, CONCLUSIONS & RECOMMENDATION:

Findings:

- Utah Code § 10-9a-609.5(3) provides standards of approval for vacating a public easement:
 - The legislative body may adopt an ordinance granting a petition to vacate some or all of a public street, right-of-way, or easement if the legislative body finds that:
 - (a) good cause exists for the vacation; and
 - (b) neither the public interest nor any person will be materially injured by the vacation.
- Staff finds that there is good cause for vacating the right-of-way for the following reasons:
 - The location of the new waterline easement will match the location of the actual water line.
 - Changes in the development layout have necessitated a change in the fire access path and thus changes to the easement as well.
 - No public interest or any person will be materially injured by the vacation of these easements since replacement easements will be recorded at the same time as Ordinance 2024-22 if approved.

Conclusion:

- The proposed vacation of the waterline and fire access easements meets the requirements of Utah Code.

Recommendation:

- Based on the Findings and Conclusions listed above, Staff recommends that the City Council take comments at the public hearing and approve the petition to vacate, unless, during the hearing, facts are presented that contradict these findings or new facts are presented, either of which would warrant further investigation by Staff.

FISCAL IMPACT:

- There are no significant fiscal impacts.

ALTERNATIVES:

- Approve an amended Application.
- Deny the Application.
- Schedule the Application for a decision at some future date.

(City Code § 17.22.020)

2. FLAG LOT OVERLAY:

- A. Concept: Applicants are encouraged to submit a concept plan and work with staff prior to application to understand the surrounding area, the goals and policies of the City's General Plan, and to ensure the minimum requirements of the FL can be met.
- B. Rezone: An FL shall only be established upon approval by the City Council as a rezone according to the provisions of Chapter 17.22, "Zoning Amendments", of this Title and as may be required elsewhere in this Title. City Council rezone approval of the FL shall be by development agreement.
- C. Concurrent Preliminary Subdivision (Optional): At the applicant's option and with the approval of the Planning Director, the applicant may submit a preliminary subdivision application to be processed concurrently with an FL rezone. In the case of concurrent applications, Planning Commission approval of a concurrent preliminary subdivision shall be contingent on the City Council's approval of the FL rezone.

BACKGROUND:

The applicant is requesting a Flag Lot Overlay rezone for two properties located at 10537 S 3010 W and 10555 S 3010 W. This rezone request will not change the property's base zone (Residential R-1.8 Zone), and the lots in the development will comply with the requirements of that zone, including lot size and density. The City Council adopted this overlay zone in 2020 based on a desire to allow flag lots in limited circumstances, where such development may be reasonable and appropriate. Although this Application is not the only flag lot overlay rezone application, it is the first being presented to the Planning Commission and City Council.

In conjunction with this rezone Application, the applicant also filed a subdivision amendment application to subdivide the properties into four lots, two of which will be flag lots. City Code defines flag lots as “[a] lot having a larger area or ‘body’ at the rear (resembling a flag or pan) and which is connected to the street by a narrower portion (resembling a flagpole or handle) which does not meet the lot width or frontage requirements of the zone.” (City Code § 16.04.160.)

The lots in question do not meet the flag lot requirements found in City Code § 16.04.160. The Flag Lot Overlay Zone provides another way the property owner can divide the lots. Both existing lots 14 and 15A have a frontage of approximately 140 feet, exceeding the 125-foot minimum requirement for the overlay zone. The development agreement associated with this Application requires all lots in the amended subdivision to comply with the standards of the Residential R-1.8 Zone and according to the concept plan, with some adjustments to fencing requirements and animal rights.

STAFF FINDINGS, CONCLUSIONS & RECOMMENDATION:

Findings:

- A development agreement is required by the Flag Lot Overlay Zone code. The following are key provisions of the agreement that provide some predictability for how the lots will develop:
 1. All lots created in the rezone and subdivision amendment applications will remain single family residential.
 2. There is an alteration to the fencing requirement, which stipulates that masonry fencing will not be required to be erected between any of the properties within the amended subdivision and in turn, farm animal rights on the subject properties will be restricted.
 3. The placement of the homes in the concept plan shows that they will meet the required setbacks for front, side, and rear yards.
- The Application meets the City Code rezone standards of approval for the R-1.8 and the Flag Lot Overlay Zones.
- This rezone Application will not change the underlying R-1.8 zone.
- This rezone Application will allow the applicant to subdivide the two existing lots and create two flag lots using the Flag Lot Overlay Zone. This is an appropriate use of this code as the subject properties meet the standards established by the Flag Lot Overlay Zone code.
- The Planning Commission reviewed this application on September 24, 2024 and recommended the City Council approve the rezone.

Conclusion:

Based on the findings, the Application, if approved, will be consistent with the goals and policies of the General Plan and the City’s Strategic Priorities, and as such, should be approved.

Recommendation:

Based on the findings and conclusion listed above, Staff recommends that the City Council take comments at the public hearing and approve the Application, unless, during the hearing, facts are presented that contradict these findings or new facts are presented, either of which would warrant further investigation by Staff.

Dan Milar
Property Owner – Applicant
04/02/2024

South Jordan City,

I am the owner of both properties located at 10537 S 3010 W (.95 acre) and 10555 S 3010 W (.95 acre), hereto within referred to as “the property(s)”. I currently reside about ¼ mile to the south in Bison Ridge. My family and I enjoy our neighborhood and community we have here and intend to be residents long into the future.

One aspect that particularly resonated with me when these two properties came up for sale is that I am already a neighbor and friend within this community and intend to keep all four lots of the property for my family. This personal investment demonstrates a genuine commitment to the well-being and prosperity of our neighborhood. All efforts will be to minimize impact on neighboring properties. This is achieved by properly maintaining the construction and development sites, providing oversight and being actively involved and available to neighbors should any issue arise. The impact is also minimized since all four directly affected lots will be owned and maintained by me.

Adding additional lots to the neighborhood and investing in the two existing homes will bring a greater value to the surrounding properties. Creating these two flag lots will also allow me to provide a home for my in-laws, build a new home for my family, and provides an investment in the future to build a fourth home as needed.

Thank you,

Dan Milar
