Explanation of Tabs

Acronyms	Provides a list of acronyms used in the report and analysis.
SumFunCL SumGroup	Provides summary of network length, width, area and condition scores by functional class (or group) and pavement type.
Comps	Provides rule of thumb comparisons for estimating the current network deficiency and required annual budget to maintain the existing network average condition. The comparisons are based on required rehabilitation of each segment in the network, estimated network valuation and ultimate life, and average condition by pavement type. The results of this tab are used to confirm calibration of the analysis models.
ACP	Asphalt roadway inventory listing complete with attributes, geometrics, condition summary, surface distress details, estimated rehab costs and field survey measurements. Condition Indexes are presented on a 0 to 100 scale, while distress ratings are on a 0 to 10 scale.
PCC	Concrete roadway inventory listing complete with attributes, geometrics, condition summary, surface distress details, estimated rehab costs and field survey measurements. Condition Indexes are presented on a 0 to 100 scale, while distress ratings are on a 0 to 10 scale.
Roughness	Network roadway inventory listing complete with average international roughness index (IRI) details
IRI Scale	Plot of the international roughness index (IRI) values in comparison to the overall surface distress index (SDI) scores of each segment.
No Survey	Listing of streets contained in the inventory, but were not surveyed. Streets that were not surveyed, but are to be included in the analysis have been moved to their respective tab and assigned a condition score with a comment. Most streets that were assigned a condition score were either obstructed by construction, were too narrow to effectively survey or could not be located in the field.
Net Overview	A pie chart of the network condition scores from very poor to excellent on the 0-100 scale.
COND	Plot of the network condition distribution by either percentage of length or area.
GFP GFP FunCL GFP Group GFP PT	Plot of the network distribution (by functional class, group and pavement type) using commonly used terms (Good, Fair, Poor, etc.) by either percentage of length or area. The rating categories have been modified from the standard ASTM settings as the condition score for this analysis includes roughness
SDI-RI	Plot of the Surface Distress Index versus Roughness Index for each segment. The parabolic cut-off on the right side of the plot is due to texture removal from the roughness calculations.
XX	Plot of the roughness and surface distress indexes distribution for the full network.

X ACP	Plot of the roughness and surface distress indexes distribution for the asphalt network.
X PCC	Plot of the roughness and surface distress indexes distribution for the concrete network.
FunCL FunGRP	Plot of the functional classification / Functional class group splits by pavement type based on network area or length.
PT FunCL PT	Plot of the pavetype type split based on network area or length.
SI vs PCI	Plot of Structural Index versus Pavement Condition Index. Each plot point represents a street segment. The random points are streets that had deflection testing completed, while the horizontal points are estimated strength values.
PWF	Listing of the proposed Priority Weighting Factor (PWF) by functional classification, pavement type and strength for priority based analysis. Also relates pavetype type and functional class to performance curves.
Rehabs	Listing of proposed rehabilitation activities and unit costs for each functional classification - pavement type combination complete with key set points
ACP Rehab	Plot of the proposed suite of rehabilitation options for the asphalt network based on pavement condition and sum of load associated distress deducts. The boundaries formed by the vertical green lines and horizontal dashed lines represent the constraints for each rehabilitation strategy.
Perf Curves	Plot of the proposed asphalt and concrete pavement performance curves. Curves are based on pavement strength and functional classification.
